ACCUSED OF LOBBYING.

Charges Hurled in Suffrage Fight.

Tennessee Grand Jury Takes Up Hearing of Alleged Bribe Offer.

Representative Said to Have Been Induced to Change His Vote.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Aug. 19.—Failure of antisuffrage leaders to attempt to force the Tennessee House to reconsider its action of yesterday in ratifying suffrage was overshadowed in interest by the launching of a county grand jury investigation into charges that improper influence had been brought to bear on members of the Legislature in consideration of the measure.

Publication by the Nashville Tennessean and the Nashville Banner of two affidavits attributed to C. C. Wallace, judge of the City Court of Lewisburg, Tenn., and E. E. Murray of Nashville, alleging that an attempt had been made by a suffrage leader to bribe Representative H. T. Burn, Republican, also featured the developments.

The grand jury, charged by Judge J. B. D. Debow, has summoned J. T. Eichelberger of Washington, D. C., a publicity man in charge of the headquarters here of the antiratification forces.

JUDGE'S CHARGE.

Judge Debow's charge said: "It has been reported by some of the friends and advocates supporting the ratification that forces of corruption and representatives of special interests have come into this State from beyond our borders and that lobbyists have been and are in this city invading and infesting the rooms of our State Capitol and the lobbies and public assembling places in our hotels, and other places in our county."

Charges of the attempted bribery of Representative Burn were not regarded seriously by suffrage leaders and many antiratificationists and their views were similar. Burn was recorded as voting with the suffrage opponents on both roll calls on a motion to table ratification which was lost on a tie vote and later cast his vote for the amendment. One vote decided the issue for suffrage.

The affidavits charged that he was approached during the interval between the vote on the motion to table and the vote to concur with the Senate in ratifying the amendment.

CALLED CLUMSY EFFORTS.

Representative J. Hanover, alleged in the affidavit attributed to Murray as having told Burn that if he would vote for ratification he would be given anything in the world he wanted and that it would be worth $10,000 to him, characterized the charge as no more than a clumsy effort to blackmail or embarrass friends and supporters of the rights of women.

Hanover said his conversation had been confined to an appeal to Burn to vote for suffrage.

Maj. C. L. Daugherty, secretary to Gov. Roberts, named in both affidavits, as urging with Hanover that Burn vote for ratification, declared Hanover did not intimate to Burn he would be paid any amount of money or that he would be given any other consideration.

The House adjourned until tomorrow without reference to suffrage. Speaker Walker of the House, opposition leader, who changed his vote on ratification from "nay" to "aye" to be in position to move for reconsideration, has one more day in which to act.

Forty-seven members of the Tennessee House have signed a pledge to vote to reconsider ratification of suffrage, Speaker Seth Walker declared tonight, speaking at a mass meeting called by those opposed to suffrage. Others will sign the pledge tonight and tomorrow, he said, declaring that the vote would be reconsidered.

Polish Explodes; Aged Woman is Fatally Hurt.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Ely Knabe, 73 years old, died today from the effects of burns received in an explosion of stove polish, yesterday.

The accident occurred while Mrs. Knabe was blacking a stove at her daughter's home. She was alone at the time and two hours elapsed before she was able to summon assistance.

It is supposed that Mrs. Knabe undertook to polish the stove while it was hot, and that inflammable matter in the mixture, igniting, set fire to her clothing.

FIRES RAGE IN FORESTS.

National Reserves Are Threatened.

Every Available Man Mustered to Fight Blaze in Stanislaus Woods.

Conflagration Also Endangers Trinity, Shasta and Lassen Districts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Towns in the gold mining region in Stanislaus, Tuolumne and Calaveras counties and points as far away as Stockton, seventy-five miles distant, were called upon today for all the fire fighters they could muster to check, if possible, a fire that was raging through the Stanislaus National Forest, the United States Forest Service here announced.

The fire is between Clavy River and the middle fork of the Tuolumne River and had burned over between 10,000 and 12,000 acres, according to the latest reports reaching here. It was making straight for an extensive pine stand controlled by the West Side Lumber Company and all available employees of the company were engaged today in endeavoring to beat it back.

Tunnel work on San Francisco's Hetch-Hetchy water project a few miles away was suspended in order that the tunnel workers might fight the fire. No towns were said to be in danger, although the fire was not far distant from the towns of Sonora, Columbia and other small points in the mining region.

PLANE USED.

A hurry call was sent today to Deputy Forest Supervisor Joseph Elliott of the Stanislaus Forest, who was aiding in fighting a fire in the Trinity National Forest, and he departed at once by airplane for Cooperstown, eight miles southwest of Sonora, which is a forest patrol landing point. The fire today had spread out into four distinct forks and it was racing toward the rich timber stands in the heart of the forest.

The fire started yesterday near the Big Oak Flat Road in Tuolumne county from causes that have not yet been determined. Forest service officials characterized it as one of the biggest and most dangerous fires in the State this season.

OTHER FORESTS IN DANGER.

Another fire had swept over 25,000 acres in the Mill Creek district of the Lassen National Forest and had done damage in excess of $10,000, and a third, uncontrolled, was sweeping to Moffat Creek near the Klamath National Forest. District State Forester N. B. Pratt was on his way from Sacramento to direct the fighting of this last fire.

The Mill Creek fire was so vast that it took an airplane thirty minutes to circle it today, the forest service reported. It was reported checked on the west, north and south sides, but balking all efforts to subdue it on the east. An airplane, in contact with the ground through a portable wireless set, is directing the fire fighters, making a complete reconnaissance of this fire twice each day.

UNDER CONTROL.

Other fires in the Lassen Forest at Lost Creek, McElroy Trail and Corneg Lake were said to be under control today while another at Tamarack, in the same forest, had been subdued.

The Soda Creek fire in the Shasta National Forest, which was expected yesterday to burn for five days, was under control today. A small lightning fire was causing some trouble in the Klamath Forest, but was not threatening to break from control. In the same forest three fires in the timber of the Fruit Growers' Supply Company were said to be under control.

Visibility for airplanes in the fire areas was improving today, it was reported, and the airplanes were doing good work in directing the fighters.

WINDS SPREAD FIRES.

MISSOULA (Mont.) Aug. 19.—Heavy winds in Northern Idaho and Western Montana have spread the many forest fires in that region over large areas, nullifying the work of weeks of fire fighting crews, it was declared at district forest service headquarters here today.

The effects of the gale, it was said, was felt most severely in the Selway, Kaniksu and St. Joe forests of Idaho and the Flathead Forest of Montana.

DRY LAW OFFICER CAN'T SEE THE JOKE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Subpoenas were issued for appearance before the Federal grand jury tomorrow of all known to have been on the stage at the opening of a musical comedy Tuesday night, at which sample bottles of whisky are alleged to have been distributed.

The announcement was made tonight after prohibition enforcement officials had declined to accept explanation by the producer that the bottles contained only tea.

ORDER CUT IN ELECTRIC POWER USE.

Water Shortage Causes Action by State Administrator Butler.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The use of electric energy for power purposes, except domestic use and use in connection with growing crops and handling of perishable foods, will be reduced 20 per cent tomorrow in Northern and Central California, it was ordered today by Power Administrator H. G. Butler.

His order was given following a conference with representatives of power companies, where the power situation resulting from the scanty rainfall of last winter was discussed and the need for drastic action pointed out.

All of the utility representatives agreed that serious consequences would follow failure to meet the crisis immediately, as the last hot spell of a fortnight's duration had, in their opinion, greatly aggravated a condition that had been met in the previous months by curtailment orders issued by the companies producing power.

In his order Butler directed the power companies to point out to the city officials in their territory that electric energy used in street sign and display lighting, is lost for productive purposes and urged restrictions on such usage of electricity as far as consistent with public safety. The order says further:

"The use of electric energy for the irrigation of vacant lands and of lands from which crops already have been harvested shall not be permitted during the present shortage."

Thirty power companies and five municipalities selling electricity are affected. Administration of the order was left with the power companies on account of their familiarity with conditions in the various districts.

Companies reselling power also were directed to refer all applications for new power above 2½ horse power to the power administrator.

THREE DROWN IN ENDEAVOR TO SAVE BOY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LADYSMITH (Wis.) Aug. 19.—Three young men, cousins, were drowned in the Chippewa River, a few miles north of Bruce, where a neighborhood picnic was being held late yesterday as relatives watched from the bank, after each had gone to the rescue of a 12-year-old boy who later was saved by his father. The dead are: Mark Holdread, 16 years old; Quinn O. Gall, 23 years old, and Oral J. Bell, 19 years old.

The boy had fallen from a log and sank. Gall, not a good swimmer, was the first to attempt a rescue. Holdread was second. Neither of them reached the boy, but Bell started with him from shore. Exhausted by the current, Bell cried for help. The boy's father waded out from shore and grabbed his son, while Bell went under the surface and was swept down the current.

Holdread was a member of Troop K, Wisconsin National Guard, and had returned only a few days ago from Camp Douglas. Gall fought three years with the Canadians. Bell also saw overseas service.

Their three families were recent arrivals in Brusk county having come here from Bourbon, Ind., where the bodies were sent for burial.

POSITIONS REVERSED.

Poland is Defended by Valiant Army.

Bolsheviki Lose the Initiative in Rush to Take the Polish Capital.

All Chance of Reds Capturing Warsaw Are Gone, Says Correspondent.

BY COL. HENRY J. REILLY.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WARSAW, Aug. 19.—I have just returned from a two days' stay with the victorious Polish army attacking on a line of the Wieprz and Deblin, formerly Ivangorod, to Kock.

The last few days have completely reversed the position of the two armies. In addition to losing the initiative, the Bolsheviki have lost the Mosyr group and their Sixteenth Army, with the exception of the Twenty-seventh Division, in all totaling seven divisions—excluding from this total large numbers of prisoners taken elsewhere.

All chances of capturing Warsaw are gone.

The Bolsheviki also have lost a large amount of equipment and material which they could not afford, due to their generally poor outfitting. Throughout the Reds have shown a grave deficiency in artillery. This deficiency recent Polish captures have greatly increased.

LOSE RAILROAD.

The Reds lost the railroad from Wolkowyski through Siedlce to Warsaw, one of their two main lines of communication. They lost Lukow Junction and the line from Lukow to Brest-Litovsk was cut. The troops to the north and northwest of Warsaw are exposed to attacks from the rear and left flank, with the consequent possibility of being cut off or being driven into the East Prussian frontier.

The absence of any reaction on the part of the Bolsheviki for the purpose of holding up the Polish advance from the south seems to indicate a lack of reserves. They easily surrender their men in large numbers, which indicates a breakdown of morale.

All signs indicate the Bolsheviki have incurred a decisive defeat.

POLES ADVANCE.

During two days and nights the Poles advanced more than forty-five miles northward, breaking the Bolshevik line and recovering the initiative. By their northerly advance they threatened the lines of communication to the rear and to the left flank of the Red troops, attacking Warsaw and operating in the Danzig corridor, thus compelling their defeat.

This relieved the pressure north of the Vistula River from the German frontier to Warsaw and definitely has lifted the siege of the capital.

By stages the Bolshevik advance had moved the bulk of their army against Warsaw and the Danzig corridor, hoping to capture Warsaw, cut the corridor and disperse the remnants of the Polish army, which they mistakenly believed were completely routed.

WARSAW ATTACKED.

The Fourth Bolshevik Army on the north, and the Sixteenth Army on the east, attacked Warsaw. The left flank of the Sixteenth Army was at Karczew. South of the Sixteenth Army, watching the Vistula to Deblin, and the Wieperz River, from Deblin east, was a Mosyr troop, consisting of three divisions.

Making every effort to keep Bolsheviki attention upon Warsaw, and the Danzig corridor, the Poles carefully prepared three of their best divisions, and on the morning of the sixteenth, they launched a surprise attack in three columns, along the Wieperz River from Deblin to Kock.

Everywhere, the surprise was complete, the Bolsheviki being driven rapidly northward, losing many prisoners, machine guns, artillery and trains.

In every case they attacked both on the flanks and front, and this, thus superiority of artillery, made their losses small. They advanced thus so rapidly, that the left Polish division cut all the communications of the sixteenth Bolshevik army, capturing practically all the wagon supplies and ammunition trains totaling thousands of wagons and horses.

SEEKING RELEASE OF ASSAILANT OF BURNS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Miss Gertrude Wormworth, who tried to shoot William J. Burns, the detective, in Grand Central terminal last year, was brought today before Justice Squiers in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, on a writ of habeas corpus sued out by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wormworth, seeking her release from the asylum at Central Islip, L. I.

Miss Wormworth attributed her condition on March 3, 1919, when she shot at Mr. Burns, to the fact that she had worried about the conduct of the World War until she suffered a nervous breakdown.

BOLSHEVIK HORDES RETREAT AS GREAT OFFENSIVE GROWS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WARSAW, Aug. 19.—The Polish offensive is in full swing. More than 10,000 prisoners, thirty cannon, 300 machine guns and thousands of supply carts have been captured. The Poles have occupied three towns.

Owing to the Polish pressure from the northeast it is reported that the Bolsheviki are withdrawing from the Vistula south of the Prussian border and northwest of Warsaw.

SECTOR IS CLEARED.

The Warsaw sector is rapidly being cleared.

North and northeast of the capital the Reds are being shoved back. The Poles are following them up all along the front, using artillery in such quantities as to cause great confusion among the invaders.

To the east the Bolsheviki are reported to be making their way across the Bug. Siedlce was taken by the Poles Wednesday.

PRISONERS NUMEROUS.

Soviet prisoners are pouring into Warsaw in such numbers that it is becoming a problem how to care for them.

Soviet forces are evacuating Brest-Litovsk, the strongly fortified town on the Bug River, 120 miles east of Warsaw, according to advices.

Near Thorn, about 105 miles north of Warsaw, the communique says, they have launched a counter action toward Brodnica.

Near Lipno, about twenty-five miles southeast of Thorn and at Siedlce, the Bolsheviki have started an eastward movement, aviators report.

BRIGADE SMASHED.

North of the Fortress Novo Grorgievsk, the Red forces were dislodged after stubborn resistance, a Polish cavalry charge smashing a Bolshevik brigade. The Bolsheviki, leaving Pultusk, thirty miles north of Warsaw, took the Mayor and the clergy as hostages, the communique states, adding that 1500 prisoners were gathered there.

Gen. Pilsudski has been with the troops east of Warsaw and under shell fire. Bolshevik troops are reported to have been cut off from their main forces, thousands surrendering daily.

Along the Bug the communique reports heavy fighting has been under way. A soviet division is said to have been cut off from retreat near Wlodawa, and to have suffered heavy casualties. The communique mentions a Bolshevik advance into parts of former East Prussia, now in Poland, northwest of Mlawa.

The Bolsheviki have reached Lidzbark and Dzialdow and are meeting with co-operation from the German population, according to the communique. The statement adds it has been ascertained that Bolshevik infantry has been forced to fight by the Communists, who, it says, have applied a system of merciless terror.

CHICAGOAN IS CITED.

The Kosciuszko squadron and Maj. P. Cedric Fauntleroy of Chicago have received special mention for bombing and observation raids on the southern front, stopping the soviet advance.

In their counter-attack to relieve pressure upon Warsaw the Poles are using tanks, airplanes, armored trains and artillery in great numbers. At Novo Minsk, east of here, and Sercok, to the northeast, 3000 prisoners, seven cannon, hundreds of wagons and vast quantities of supplies have been captured.

The Bolshevik retreat north and east of Warsaw took the semblance of a rout at some places. On the extreme left, however, soviet advances are recorded.

STATE CLOTHIERS PLAN DRIVE TO CUT PRICES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—Stabilization of retail clothing prices and reductions to bring ready-made clothing nearer to the public purse will be the chief problems under discussion tomorrow at the Palace Hotel when clothiers from all sections of California meet for the first annual convention of the California Retail Clothiers' Association. Attempts will be made by the western dealers to work out a plan by which a national campaign to reduce the present high prices of clothing may be carried on, Sidney G. Lippitt, San Francisco clothier and vice-president, declared today.

"The retail clothier has been blamed unjustly for keeping up prices," Mr. Lippitt declared. "We will do everything within our power at this convention to bring prices down and still maintain the high standards demanded by the public."

Mr. Lippitt will call the meeting to order this morning, after which the clothiers will be welcomed by the Mayor of San Francisco and George Boardman, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. Herman Frank, Los Angeles president of the association, will deliver the keynote speech.

Harding Says Republicans Will Exterminate One-Man Government.

SENATE WILL HAVE A SAY IN BUSINESS OF NATION.

Autocracy Reared from Democracy Must Go, Candidate Tells the Legislators of Ohio.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MARION, Aug. 19.—Reaffirming his faith in "party sponsorship in government," Senator Harding said in a speech today that his Democratic critics were correct in supposing that if elected he would "persist the Senate to have some say in determining the policy of the government."

"The Senate saved American nationality in 1919 and 1920," he said, "when the Executive proposed to surrender it. If a Republican administration is chosen, you can be certain that the Senate will have something to say about foreign relations, as the constitution contemplates. I had rather have the counsel of the Senate than all the political bosses.

"PERSONAL" GOVERNMENT.

"I want to have done with personal government. I want to put an end to autocracy reared in the name of democracy."

The Senator also referred to the Senate filibuster which blocked several big appropriation bills in the last days of the Democratic Congress, and said that while he did not approve at the time, the development had saved about a billion dollars by putting the supply measures over into the Republican Congress.

The speech was delivered from the front porch and was cheered by a delegation of members and former members of the Ohio Legislature. It was the second today, a group of Civil War veterans from Kenton, O., having induced him to make a brief talk when they paid him a noonday visit.

AMERICAN RIGHTS.

To them he reiterated his belief that it was for American rights that the nation entered the World War, and added a promise that if he were elected there would be no surrender of American nationality.

"There have been varying opinions expressed," he said, "as to why your grandsons went into the Great War. Some have said it was for democracy and some have said it was to make sure there would be no more wars.

"But if we went in for democracy's sake, oughtn't we to have gotten into it when it started? And if we went in to make sure there would be no more wars, should we have waited until millions had been sacrificed?

"The simple truth is, and it doesn't disparage the opinion of any one, that we went in because American rights were threatened."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The League of Nations was touched on briefly, Senator Harding declaring Article X would break down the orderly processes of the Federal government by transferring from Congress to a foreign council the power to decide when the nations should go to war.

"It would be a sorry thing," said Senator Harding after commenting on his early legislative impressions, "for public men to forget the oath of office. Somehow, there has been a tendency of late to ignore this obligation. It is not easy for me to forget the oath I assumed when I entered the Senate. It was the remainder of that oath that impelled me in opposing the unreserved ratification of the League of Nations covenant. I could not accept the covenant as written and be faithful to that oath.

"I confess amazement at the ignorance of some who cry out against the Senate, or the contempt of others for the Senate's proper and constitutional part in Federal government.

"I am not disparaging the House of Congress. Many of the brilliant contributors to American statecraft had left the impress of their exceptional statesmanship in the activities of the House.

SENATE SAVED AMERICA.

"I do not hesitate to say that the Senate saved American neutrality in 1919 and 1920, when the Executive proposed to surrender it. The Senate preserved our independence of action when the Executive insisted a foreign council should decide our future place in the activities of the world.

"The practices of the Senate are not so ancient or so firmly fixed that they do not yield to reform, and the Senate is not invincible to intelligent public opinion.

"It has been suggested that in case of a Republican victory the incoming President proposes to permit the Senate to have some say in determining the policy of government. I gladly proclaim all these statements literally correct. I rejoice that the Senate is functioning again. We need it to save America. It submerged itself for the period of the war and submitted to the President because we wanted to marshal all our forces and resources under one authority, but we are at peace today, and we need restoration of constitutional government as much as we need restoration of the stable ways of peace.

"If a Republican administration is chosen you can be certain that the Senate, theoretically, if not actually, will have something to say about the foreign relations as the Constitution contemplates.

NO FAILURE IN HOUSE.

"There has been no failure on the part of the House, because that body joins the Senate in the abiding policy of committing this republic to fidelity of contract. If we failed to keep any covenant we should be held in contempt.

"This thought may well be applied to the proposal that this republic can subscribe to Article X and enter the League of Nations and submit to the rule of a council of foreign powers, on the theory that only Congress can make the declaration of war. It is true only Congress can make the declaration, just as it is true that only Congress can make an appropriation of money to carry out a covenant with a foreign power, but if this nation agrees to accept the decision of a foreign council, then we should be guilty of a bad faith.

"I would think it much better to hold aloof from international relationship than stamp that relationship with perfidy from the beginning.

RECOGNIZES ALL POWERS.

"I want America to understand that a Republican administration stands unalterably, avowedly and proudly for constitutional government, with the recognized and sustained powers of the legislative and judicial branches of the government, as well as that of the Executive.

"I want members of the House to feel themselves a part of a Republican administration, seeking to serve the interests of the people. I want members of the Senate to understand and the public to know that the Senate has its functions to perform in the fulfillment of promises to the people.

"I had rather have the counsel of the Senate than all the political bosses.

"The tendency has been for the Executive to arrogate to himself all powers of government. Maybe it is old-fashioned to get back to the Constitution, but I can well believe it will be a wholesome change.

"I want to have done with personal government. I want to put an end to autocracy, reared in the name of democracy. I want a government of laws rather than of men.

"We had a period of popular resentment of the existence of our courts and for a time there was the suggestion that we should submit their decisions to popular sanction. There isn't much choice between venomous assault on the integrity of the courts and the momentary clamor about eliminating the Senate from the responsibility in government.

"I do not know whether the idea is one imported from the peace council, or whether it is a reflex of the mob mentality which has broken in Europe. Our business is to hold America stable. Our task is to preserve popular, representative, constitutional government.

"There can be no permanent good fortune if the rewards of toil are bestowed on particular groups. There can be no assurance of stability if one great group preys on another.

"Our thought is to work out such just laws and see to their proper enforcement that government will not be influenced by any element in American life made influential through its physical might or strength of possessions, but that representative government shall ever be righteous and just and give of its concern to the good fortunes of all American people."

OFFENSIVE OF POLES GOES ON.

Wlocklawek, where they had designed to cross the Vistula, bombarded the town for hours, the shells damaging the cathedral and the bishop's palace.

WILLING TO QUIT.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 19.—"We are not conquerors, and shall evacuate Polish territory immediately Poland guarantees that the Polish republic has abandoned its aggressive policy and is resolved to commence peaceful constructive work."

This was a statement by M. Danishevsky, chairman of the armistice negotiations at the opening of the Russo-Polish conference at Minsk, according to details received here.

"Soviet Russia and Ukraine," he declared, "are regarding with full sincerity and brotherly feeling of solidarity the workers and peasants of Poland, and desire only one thing —restoration with Poland of solid friendly and neighborly relations."

TROTZKY MEETS GERMANS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A Danzig dispatch to the London Times says Leon Trotsky, Bolshevist Minister of War, arrived Monday at Troskeu, at the East Prussian frontier, secretly from Bialystok, to negotiate strategic questions with German staff officers. A preliminary conference occurred in East Prussia on August 12.

It is asserted that German volunteers from East Prussia are forming near Vilna to march ostensibly as a revolutionary army into East Prussia and bring about joint action by East Prussia and the soviet against Poland.

POLES SPEED ONWARD.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Polish forces are advancing with undiminished speed along the line running from north of Warsaw to Wiedawa, about 110 miles southeast of Warsaw.

Principal interest, now, and attaches to the maneuver of Gen. Pilsudski's forces. Massed reserves which he had concentrated have advanced sixty miles in three days and effected a junction with another army operating from Cholm.

United, these armies were within eighteen miles of Brest-Litvosk, 120 miles east of Warsaw, noon Wednesday, and have now probably occupied that important center of communication, which the Reds late Wednesday night were reported to be evacuating.

AIM IS ATTAINED.

The initial tactical aim of this maneuver, say military experts, is more than attained, as the left wing of the Bolshevik army, based on Brest-Litovsk, has become separated. The Red center is being held before the forts of Warsaw, and on the right they are reported in a critical situation.

The Poles have almost reached their next objective—below Brest-Litovsk. Once attained, it is believed the retreat of the Bolsheviki will be cut off and they will be left with only one way to retire beyond Bug. This is by way of the Warsaw-Bialystok highroad.

CONVERGING ATTACK.

The Polish left wing is continuing to advance and is now well up in the fork between the Narew and Bug, making a converging attack. In the center the Poles are driving the Reds back upon the Upper Bug.

Near Thorn, in the Danzig corridor, northeast of Warsaw, fresh troops have appeared. They surrounded the Red detachments and removed all danger, to communication between Warsaw and Danzig by the Vistula, and also cleared the railroad from Danzig to Soldau.

Polish delegates at the Minsk conference have refused to accept a peace condition advanced by the soviet for the disarmament of the Polish army unless the Russians disarm, says a wireless from Berlin quoting a report from Minsk.

The message follows:

"Yesterday, at the first sitting of the Minsk conference, Russo-Ukrainian delegates had insisted that the second sitting should occur today and should not be delayed until the 19th, as the Polish delegation desired. Nevertheless, through the fault of the Polish delegation, the sitting did not occur. The Russo-Ukrainian delegation sent, through its secretary, an official protest.

RESULTS INDECISIVE.

Fierce fighting is continuing in the region of Warsaw and Novo Georgievsk, the strong fortress about nineteen miles northwest of Warsaw, at the confluence of the Vistula and Bug rivers, according to Wednesday's statement from Moscow.

In the Crimea sector operations are going on with indecisive results, the statement says.

The official report follows: "Our troops have crossed the River Vistula and have occupied Sotslavsk. In the Novo Georgievsk and Warsaw regions fierce fighting continues. In the Lemberg region we forced the Bug and occupied Busk and Zlochoff. In the Buczacz region fighting continues with alternating success along the Strypa. In the Crimea sector in the Orlekhoff region we engaged the enemy with alternating success along the River Karachekray."

FIGHTING HEAVY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Aug. 19.—The Poles are advancing on Graudonz, West Prussia, in full force, according to a special dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung today.

On the left wing strong Polish cavalry forces are moving against Thorn from the south, where the Russians are expected to cross the Vistula.

Heavy fighting between the Poles and Russians is reported before Goslerahausen.

The Danzig corridor between Strasburg and Deutsch-Eylau has been cleared of the soviet forces, the dispatch says.

A force of security police, accompanied by armed civilians, has been sent from Upper Silesia to intercept a Polish "shock" force marching on the town, says a press dispatch.

Advices from Kattowitz up to 3 p.m. indicate that the tension of the German population, on the one side, and of the French troops and Polish elements on the other, is not relaxing, and that fresh outbursts are likely. Two thousand Italian troops have arrived.

The advices say that desultory firing is in progress in various parts of the city and that lynch law is freely being resorted to by enraged German workers.

MESSAGE TO CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Unless Bolshevik military leaders succeeded in quickly organizing a more successful resistance, defeat of the soviet forces before Warsaw will become a very serious one, according to a cable received by the State Department today from the American Legation at Warsaw.

A cable received today by the Polish Legation from the Minister of Foreign Affairs at Warsaw said Polish troops advancing against the Bolsheviki were "being met with great enthusiasm by the liberated population."

Gen. Baron Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik leader in South Russia, has been recognized by tribes in Southern Russia as the head of the Russian government, according to a dispatch received today in official circles.

The State Department was advised by the Warsaw Legation that Siedice, to the east of Warsaw, and Pultusk, north of the Polish capital, have been recaptured. The department has also been advised that all the Bolshevik forces occupying the territory along the Vistula River to the west of Modlin have been ordered to retire before the Polish advance. Modlin is about thirty-five miles northwest of Warsaw.

Government officials here have not yet indicated whether or not the United States will be party to the protest which the French government is reported about to make against the turning back by the Allied Commissioner at Danzig of ships carrying supplies for Poland. It is understood that the department has not been definitely informed concerning the alleged refusal of the Allied high commissioner to permit the discharge of these cargoes at Danzig.

BELGIUM NEUTRAL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BRUSSELS, Aug. 19.—The Council of Ministers today decided Belgium will remain neutral in the Russo-Polish conflict until after the peace negotiations at Minsk are concluded.

OREGON WANTS PASADENA MAN.

Warrant Charges that He Took Fellow-Tourist's Rifle and Fishing Outfit.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EUGENE (Or.) Aug. 19.—A warrant for the arrest of Dr. V. Bernard Herbst of Pasadena has been issued from the District Attorney's office, which charges that Dr. Herbst took a hunting rifle and a fishing outfit from a fellow tourist, who was vacationing at Oak Ridge. Dr. Herbst, who is touring the country in his machine, has been located in Tacoma.

The outfit, which was valued at $100, was the property of W. D. Torrey of Portland. Torrey stayed at the hotel at which Dr. Herbst was stopping and it is charged that the latter took the articles when he drove away in company with N. J. Merrill of Medford.

PRISONERS TRY ESCAPE BY TUNNEL.

Salt Lake City Plot is Uncovered; Illinois Convicts Frustrated.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 19.—Utah State prison authorities have discovered a plot by three convicts, serving time for robbing a Springville bank of $18,000, to escape from the penitentiary by tunneling.

The officers were "tipped off" by another prisoner, who had been asked to enter the plot.

The authorities set watch and acted only when twenty-five feet of tunnel had been dug and less than ten feet remained between the prisoners and liberty.

In the tunnel was found a quantity of firearms, smuggled into the prison by supposed accomplices on the outside.

The convicts admitted their share in the plot and are in solitary confinement.

JOLIET, Aug. 19.—A carefully planned attempt by twenty convicts at the State prison to make a break for liberty today resulted in the shooting of Louis Nokoles, a Chicago convict, serving a term for murder.

Other convicts attempted to overpower the prison guards, but were finally driven to their cells.

At an appointed time, the convicts set fires in six different portions of the prison yard. In the confusion that followed, Nokoles attacked a guard with a club. The guard drew his revolver and shot him in the leg. The other convicts who came to Nokoles's aid were driven back.

STOWAWAYS ON BOARD OUTNUMBERED CREW.

JAILED AT NEW BEDFORD, TWENTY-EIGHT ESCAPE BY PICKING LOCK.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Capt. Perpules of the Portuguese steamer Moraugia discovered after he had been at sea some days that there were twenty-eight stowaways on board.

His crew is only twenty-two. He touched at New Bedford, where the twenty-eight were jailed.

The stowaways waited until the jailer had gone to bed. Then one among them produced a buttonhook, unlocked the jail door and the twenty-eight departed, leaving the jail intact.

The next morning the citizens of New Bedford, who don't get a chance every day to see twenty-eight stowaways, arrived early at the jail only to find the cage empty.

Greatly disappointed, they "razzed" the police chief until he became indignant and promptly arrested the officers of the ship, charging them with complicity in the escape. But there was no proof against them, so they were released.

RETAINS FAITH PONZI WILL PAY.

Boston Business Man Says Banker Will Settle.

Declares He Has $30,000 Invested With Him.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—"It is true that I had $20,000 invested with Ponzi. It is true also that we drew out the matured amount of $30,000. It is also true that nearly as much as $30,000 went into it again, is still in, and most true of all is the fact that I have perfect faith I will draw out every cent of the money." This was the statement made tonight by Louis Blass, Boston cotton merchant, international business man, at his home, 2219 West Center street, Roxbury.

The Attorney-General may have his doubts of Ponzi, Dist.-Atty. Pelletier may wish for more drastic laws to curb such ventures as Ponzi's, but in West Roxbury is an apparently hard-headed business man who solemnly says that he is sure Ponzi will make good. Blass is an Alsatian with a cotton business which has offices and agents in Spain, Germany, France and the United States.

INVESTED FOR FRIENDS.

"I have more money with Ponzi than I will say," he explained. "All of it is not mine, quite a good deal of it I took from friends who asked me to invest with Ponzi for them.

"I probably know Ponzi better than anyone living in Boston. I met him through one of the consuls here. I knew him for several years when he was scheming one scheme after another to get money. I knew him when he was poor. I always liked him. I always trusted him. He was always worthy of trust.

"When I recently came back from a business trip in the West and found Ponzi in great difficulties I went to see him.

"'So,' said I, 'this reply coupon business is not what you had your money in, Charlie?'

PAPER MONEY.

"'No,' said he, 'but what would you say if it was bank notes?'

"I figured out the business from my travels in foreign countries and from what Ponzi had let drop. There's Poland. They have all the money they can print on the presses, and that's all the money they have.

"Foreign governments were behind this Ponzi business. He was the little man to stand the brunt. When all is known, it will be found that there was juggling between Polish and other bank notes of other bankrupt countries and Ponzi. Now he is suffering.

"When I went into this deal investing in my wife's name $20,000, I spent thousands looking into the proposition.

"Nothing illegal! The Boston postoffice department told me. At Justice Brandeis's Washington street office I got the same reply.

"We can find nothing illegal, two well-known lawyers employed by me replied, so I invested. And so, I have faith in Ponzi. He was my friend. He still is my friend. I believe he will yet make good, if he is given the chance."

FORMER PARTNER ARRESTED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Antonio Salviati, an Italian banker of Montreal, alleged by detectives from that city to have been a partner of Charles Ponzi, Boston's "financial wizzard," was arrested today on a warrant issued in Montreal.

The warrant charged Salviati with larceny of $944 from Francisco Charpaleggio of Montreal, a customer of the banking firm with which he and Ponzi were said to have been associated. According to detectives eight other warrants are said to have been issued in Montreal for Salviati involving sums totaling approximately $50,000.

The police said Salviati had admitted he had disappeared from Montreal rather suddenly after Ponzi had been arrested there for forgery, but he expressed confidence in his ability to straighten out his financial obligations.

G. H. Rioux, detective attached to the Attorney General's office in Montreal, said the charges against Salviati alleged that he had appropriated money accepted by his bank from Italians for transmission to relatives in Italy, explaining afterwards that the Italian government had seized the funds in transit.

Antonio B. Salviati arrested in New York today on a Montreal warrant, is wanted here in connection with the collapse of the banking firm of Z. Rossi and Company, of which Charles Ponzi, Boston's "financial wizzard," was a member when it failed in 1908.

Salviati is alleged to have jumped his bail.

PONZI STAYS IN JAIL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Charles Ponzi, discredited prophet of high finance, again was the object of attention of the crowds today. He was taken before a Federal commissioner for hearing on charges that he used the mails to defraud. Ponzi waived examination and was taken back to jail in default of $25,000 bonds. Trial was set for September 6.

In the throng which filled the courtroom was John S. Dondero, described as a partner of Ponzi in his Securities Exchange Company in papers filed at the City Hall, and named as a joint defendant in bankruptcy proceedings brought by creditors several days ago. Dondero has been sought for several days and service was not made on him until today. He was arraigned, charged with larceny of $600 in connection with the Ponzi scheme.

He pleaded not guilty and was ordered held for a hearing September 10. Bonds were set at $50,000.

Ponzi said tonight that he was content to remain in jail.

Crowds in the courtroom gathered around him in an effort to grasp his hand and he smiled broadly in appreciation.

SUPPORT WITHDRAWN.

Ponzi told Deputy United States Marshals his downfall was due to withdrawal of support by a man prominent in the city's financial circles. If given his liberty under guard for sixty days, Ponzi asserted he could make good, dollar for dollar, on every promise and prove his solvency.

Ponzi remarked as an instance of continued public confidence in him that he had received a check for $3500 for investment before he left the jail today.

Atty.-Gen. Allen announced that $15,000 of the funds of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company had been located in New York and that this brought the total of the company's funds accounted for to $150,000.

Ponzi's liabilities as uncovered by the State Attorney General, totaled tonight $4,303,874, representing the claims of 10,200 investors, plus the 50 per cent interest promised.

A run on the First State Bank, a private institution doing business principally with members of the Italian colony, continued today. Depositors were said to be alarmed by indefinite reports that President Thomas Nutile had suffered losses in the closing of the Hanover Trust Company, which was involved in the Ponzi collapse. President Nutile said he could produce three times as much money as necessary to pay deposits.

STATE TAX LEVY MAY BE HIGHER.

Controller Tells of Probable Budget Needs.

May be $20,000,000 in Excess of Last Year.

Taxpayers Unfortunate Class, Says Chambers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA CRUZ, Aug. 19.—Appropriation bills enacted into State laws in California in 1921 may provide for between $70,000,000 and $75,000,000 for the biennium beginning July 21, 1921, John S. Chambers, State Controller, declared in an address here today at the convention of the State Association of County Assessors. The next Legislature, he said, will be asked to appropriate approximately $20,000,000 in excess of the total appropriated by the 1919 Legislature for the present biennium.

The last budget, in round numbers, totaled $47,000,000, Mr. Chambers asserted. In addition, the Legislature passed bills appropriating approximately $18,000,000, he added, and the Governor signed, of the measures, bills appropriating about $10,000,000, half of which was not available during the present fiscal year.

MAY EXCEED LAST BUDGET.

"In other words, the grand total for use this biennium is about $52,000,000, by far the greatest total to date in the history of the State," Mr. Chambers continued. "Yet this huge total is likely to be exceeded by many millions. It is probable the next budget itself will be compelled to recommend expenditures exceeding those of the last budget by from $12,000,000 to $18,000,000, to which must be added such individual appropriation bills by the individual legislators as will be approved by the Governor. In short, the grand total of appropriation bills enacted into law next year may run between $70,000,000 and $75,000,000 for the next biennium, and, including similar bills passed in 1919 but not available until the coming fiscal period."

Mr. Chambers explained that upon the fate of certain measures to be voted upon by the people in November depends, to a certain extent, the nature of the items to be included in the budget and the measures to be considered by the Legislature.

RELIEVE STATE TREASURY.

"Should the University of California initiative calling for the direct taxation of general property to provide it with a revenue of about $4,000,000 a year, be approved by the voters, the State treasury would be relieved of what it has been contributing biennially, plus the continuous increases that come every two years," Chambers said. "This would release just that much more money in the State treasury for other State purposes.

"But the measure is not likely to pass. First, it exempts from this proposed taxation the property of the public utilities, such as railroads and power companies, and places all the burden on the property of corporations, not public utilities, and on the property of Tom, Dick and Harry. Likewise, it makes the university very much of a kingdom within a kingdom—an independent organization free of legislative control. It should be explained in passing that the State government derives the bulk of its revenue from the taxation of corporations, while general property is left to the counties and cities.

NEEDS MORE MONEY.

"The university is a great and fast growing institution and it requires more money in order to function properly, but it has taken a very unwise way in which to secure needed revenue. The failure of the measure to pass will mean an additional drain on the State Treasury of about $1,000,000 a year. The university must have more money.

"The school people also have an initiative measure before the people which calls for $2,500,000 a year, or $5,000,000 a biennium, that the teachers may be better paid, and which should be passed, although its proponents have failed to say in what manner the money shall be raised. They do not, as do the university regents, call for a tax on general property, but merely plan to have the people issue a mandate, leaving the solution of the problem to the Legislature.

OTHER DEMANDS MADE.

"Among the other demands, increases and requirements for the coming biennium are the following: Equalization and increasing salaries of normal school teachers, $1,500,000; orphan and half-orphan aid, $1,000,000; extra highway interest on the State, should the initiative measure exempting counties pass, $3,000,000; appropriations of 1919 available through coming biennium, $3,500,000, probable conservative increase in cost of maintaining institutions, commissions and offices and the units of State government, $3,000,000; Los Angeles storm control project, $2,000,000, but to extend over several years, and probable institutional deficiency to meet this year's necessities, $500,000.

"This gives a total of $15,500,000, assuming the university initiative will fail and not including the Los Angeles project, or individual bills by legislators.

"From present indications, from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 will be required in excess of an estimated surplus and revenue of $60,000,000 as available for the coming biennium on the assumption that the budget and other appropriations in 1921 will total from $70,000,000 to $75,000,000.

TAX IS PROBLEM.

"How is this money to be raised? Various means are suggested, such as a State tax on general property and which has not been levied since 1910—in other words an additional local burden; an increase in the tax rates on corporations; a... income tax and a copartnership tax.

"Some even have had the temerity to suggest more economy and greater efficiency in the management of the State government. The reorganization of the State government through consolidation and simplification could be made to save $1,000,000 a year. It should be done. This sum compared to the huge total may appear small, but it is large and if not saved now will grow and grow and grow until soon the waste will be $2,000,000 a year.

"It must be remembered that saving can only be applied to the machinery of the State government proper. Bonded indebtedness already incurred must be paid and also the interest in the meantime and the support of the schools cannot be cut. We can save through doing away with unnecessary units of the government, consolidating functions under logical heads will bring about not only economy, but increased efficiency.

REFORM IS NEEDED.

"During the last Legislature such an opportunity was given in the report of the Efficiency and Economy Committee, which provided for a partial reorganization—in other words, which laid the foundation on which later should be built the superstructure. But though the committee had been named by the Governor, who frankly admitted waste prevailed, neither he nor the Legislature put into effect the very wise recommendations of this report. It is sincerely to be hoped, even though delayed, that the coming Legislature will either see this great reform put into successful effect as in Illinois, Idaho and Nebraska or at least that a real start will be made as was attempted in 1919.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, I drew warrants to pay the cost of government upon the part of the State for that year in a total sum of $61,908,179, by far the greatest expenditure in California's history, being $11,226,706 more than that of the year before, or a 22 per cent increase in twelve months, and a 230 per cent increase in ten years. All this plus the part we play in helping to support the Federal and local governments and the staggering cost of living.

THINK OF TAX PAYERS.

"The purpose of government is to advance and protect the welfare of the people who compose it and humanitarianism should not be lost sight of. But it should be remembered that even meritorious projects must wait upon the pocketbook, to crowd matters often entails greater evils in the end than those it is proposed to eliminate. It is well to remember in considering this unfortunate class, or that, this frill or that fad, that the taxpayers themselves, under present-day conditions, constitute a very unfortunate class indeed and that the time has arrived for those in charge of governmental activities to give profound thought to their welfare."

GOES EAST FOR VISIT; FOUND DEAD IN RIVER.

AGED MAN WHO LIVED HERE FOR LAST THREE YEARS DIES IN IOWA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SIOUX CITY (Iowa) Aug. 19. The body of Thomas Meirstein, 82 years of age, a Civil War veteran and pioneer of Sioux City, who had spent the last three years in Los Angeles and arrived here last Friday for a visit to his former home, was found floating at the mouth of the Floyd River near the Sioux City Stock Yards this morning. The condition of the body, according to Coroner Dickenson, indicated that it had been in the water since Monday. It was identified by Charles Mierstein, a son, living at 2941 Washington street. The case is a mystery to the police.

Two theories have been advanced as to the cause of death. It was at first believed he met with foul play, as only 20 cents of the $20 which he had when he left the home of his son Monday was found on the body. It developed, however, that he had paid his Odd Fellow lodge dues while attending a meeting Monday night. The theory that he was slugged by robbers and his body thrown in the river is further discounted by the report made by the coroner that no marks of violence were found on the body.

The second and most plausible theory, according to the police, is that he met with an accident while walking to the home of his son at 2942 Washington street after the lodge meeting. It was said that he probably lost his footing while crossing the street-car bridge over the river, plunged into the water and was unable to swim ashore. It was said that he may have used the street-car bridge as a short cut.

He leaves four sons: William of Kansas City, Joseph and Charles of Sioux City and George of Carroll, Iowa; and five daughters, Mrs. Rose Hungerford and Mrs. Bertha Walker of Sioux City, Mrs. Jessie Pocklington of Los Angeles, Mrs. Ida Metz of Casper, Wyo., and Mrs. Minnie Bartlett of San Francisco. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

WOMEN MAY WORK SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

OREGON COMMISSION GRANTS THEM PRIVILEGE; EQUALITY IS REACHED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Aug. 19.—Oregon women may work seven days a week if they so desire.

"This was the decision of the Industrial Welfare Commission at a meeting today, made in response to a protest of the women railway ticket agents. The women, who are now limited to six days a week, demanded that they be placed on the same basis as men. The petition was signed by 186 women. The committee's resolution provided that women may work seven days, but not more than sixty hours a week. Railroads pay time and a half over the regular eight hours.

This will relieve the present difficulty caused by the overabundance of intermediate employees and the lack of experts, and will make it possible for women to be promoted to higher positions.

MOTHER CHARGED WITH MURDERING OWN CHILD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Josephine Ehrlinger of Newark, who, less than two years ago, was acquitted of killing an infant son by throwing him into a snow bank, is now charged with killing another of her children.

Mrs. Ehrlinger, according to the police, admitted she strangled the child because it cried and she did not want the neighbors to hear it. She was held without bail for the grand jury.

RUNNERS OF WHISKY WORRYING MONTANA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HELENA, Aug. 19.—Whisky running across the Canadian border into Montana has reached such proportions that it is becoming the center of concern for prohibition enforcement officers in this State, Federal authorities declare.

The runners cross at various places near Sweet Grass, the international port. A regular route is said to be followed by the importers, including Havre, Great Falls and Butte. Much liquor is said to come into the Blackfoot Indian reservation.

OIL LANDS WILL BE OPERATED.

Navy Department to Exploit Southern California.

Grants to be Worked Directly or Through Leases.

Some One Hundred Producing Wells on Lands Now.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Plans for immediate operation of oil lands in the Southern California naval petroleum reserve, either directly or by lease to private operators on a royalty basis, are being considered by the Navy Department.

Action is being deferred, it was learned today, until after August 25, which will conclude the six-months period, within which claimants to oil rights within the reserve may file application for lease under the land leasing bill. The naval reserve on which it is purposed to begin drilling, known as reserve No. 2, is that on which the Southern Pacific Railway Company recently won title.

In addition to present extensive operations on the interlacing Southern Pacific properties, naval officials estimated there were approximately one hundred producing wells on the naval reserve proper, lease to which undoubtedly will be granted claimants under the land leasing bill.

OIL COMPANIES BUSY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—At least three big oil companies, the Associated, General Petroleum and Boston Pacific have filed applications for well leases on the California naval reserve, it was announced here today, following word from Washington that active development work under the land leasing bill, will be started after August 25.

The bill opened the reserve to individuals and corporations, giving them the right to lease, provided they would relinquish any claims they might have on reserve holdings.

There are less than 100 applications for leases, it was announced by the oil division of the Department of Justice here.

All lease applications will be adjudicated by the Commissioner of the General Land Office and the Secretary of the Interior before being decided upon, it was announced.

GIVES LOCAL VIEW.

Whether the contemplated decision of the Navy Department to operate the oil lands in Maricopa county, Southern California, would mean much to private operators depends entirely upon the royalty basis fixed by the department, according to H. H. Maxson, secretary of the Independent Petroleum Marketers' Association, interviewed in Los Angeles last night. That there is an abundance of oil on the naval petroleum reserve is the belief of experienced oil men who are willing to develop the industry in Maricopa county on a reasonable royalty, said Mr. Maxson, but if the royalty is placed at such a figure as not to allow a fair and reasonable profit private operators will not avail themselves of any opportunity the Navy Department may afford them.

Mr. Maxson said the step the Navy Department is reported to be considering would help untangle a snarl which had existed for four or five years, since the time the Navy Department pre-empted the producing wells of private individuals, impounded several millions of their money and then failed to operate the oil lands itself.

AWAIT AUGUST 25.

Local oil men are said to be waiting for the expiration of the six months' lease period on the oil lands outside the naval reserve, on August 25, when they will file applications for prospecting permits, with the Secretary of the Interior. Under the land leasing bill's terms, prospectors may lease 2560 acres and upon discovery of oil may retain one-fourth interest, the other three-fourths being put up for sale to the highest bidder.

AMERICANS FACE FAMINE, BULLETS

Eighteen Are Beleaguered in Adana by Turk Forces.

Raids Made Chiefly at Night, When Town is Raked.

Maintaining Soup Kitchens for American Refugees.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 16.—Showered nightly with Turkish bullets and facing famine, eighteen American workers of the American Commission for Relief in the Near East have been besieged in Adana, Asia Minor, since June 20. Twice the French troops holding Adana have fought their way to Mersina, the nearest port, and have returned with heavy losses.

A flour cargo of the American Relief Commission for beleaguered Adana is waiting at Mersina. The railway has been demolished and supplies can reach Adana only by motor trucks, heavily convoyed, with great loss of life through the sixty-mile stretch controlled by the followers of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish Nationalist leader, who are determined to starve out the French in Adana.

TOWN RAKED AT NIGHT.

The siege of the city was described to the correspondent by Webster Anderson of Crawfordsville, Ind., who has arrived in Constantinople after escaping from Adana, August 7, and walking southeast to the Mediterranean. The Turks encircling Adana have little artillery, according to Anderson, and consequently made raids chiefly at night when the entire town is raked. Thus far the Americans have not been injured, but their buildings have been peppered.

The French artillery in Adana kills many Turks and affords cover for the troops which make frequent sallies into the surrounding farms and vineyards for food. The Americans are maintaining soup kitchens and workshops for 10,000 Armenian refugees. All but 300 of the orphans of Adana have been sent to Cyprus.

AMERICANS IN PARTY.

The Americans are Doris Nevis of the Colony Club of New York, daughter of the composer, Ethelbert Nevin; Mrs. Emily R. Block of New York; Miss Adelaide Crane of Quincy, Ill.; Miss Ruth W. Henry of Amherst, Mass.; Miss Nan Lowe of Avis, Pa.; Dr. and Mrs. William Dodd of Montclair, N. J.; Philip Lee Flora of Springfield, Mass.; Wilson Fowler of Woburn, Mass.; George W. Patterson of Randolph, Vt.; William Rambo and wife of Philadelphia; Earl H. Seeley, of San Angelo, Tex.; the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Webb of Boston, and the Misses Clara Bissell and Margaret A. Owens. The two latter are members of the Y.W.C.A.

MAIL TRAIN HELD UP WITHIN CITY LIMITS.

MASKED MEN TAKE REGISTERED POUCHES AND ESCAPE AT ST. LOUIS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Police and postoffice inspectors today were searching for a clew to the whereabouts of the two masked bandits who last night held up a Missouri Pacific fast mail train within the city limits and escaped with four pouches said to have contained registered mail. The train was bound for Little Rock, Ark.

The loss, postal officials said, will not be known until a check-up is made of the contents of the pouches.

The men boarded the train at a crossing and with revolvers lined the mail clerks up against the wall. Near the outskirts of the city, one of the robbers pulled the signal cord, stopping the train. The mail pouches were then thrown out and the bandits jumped after them, disappearing.

One of the pouches was found today in a clump of weeds along the railroad track. The contents were intact.

William M. Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank board, tonight said the Postoffice Department had informed him that a package registered by the bank had been found to be in one of the pouches stolen. The total of the bank's currency will not exceed $25,000, according to Dep. Gov. Atterbury.

OIL PROSPECTING GIVEN IMPETUS.

Over 5000 Applications for Permits Are Filed.

Large Numbers Are Also Applying for Leases.

Land Office Makes Effort to Expedite Work.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. — A stampede in oil prospecting is under way and production will have a great impetus in all Western States and California in particular. More than 5000 applications for prospecting permits for petroleum have been filed with Commissioner Tallman of the General Land Office and more are coming by every mail.

Oil men who have been doing development work are applying for leases in large numbers. Applications are being received at all western land offices and before the final date—August 25—it is anticipated that all desirable oil lands will be sought under lease.

Many claimants for oil patents, because of work done before withdrawal of these lands by Presidential order, are being granted hearings so that they may show that development work has been prosecuted with diligence and has complied with the law. Every effort is being made so that the applications for leases may be swiftly passed upon and those who have done development work and cannot secure patents will be granted leases on the lands.

Hearings were held yesterday before Secretary Payne and Land Commissioner Tallman on the so-called McMurtray locations in what are known as the Consolidated Oil cases. In these cases patents were urged because of continuous and diligent development work and because the company could not accept leases on a royalty basis as the companies would be unable to pay back royalties on oil already taken out. These are in the Midway field.

Some of the Canfield claims now owned by the Santa Fe are being heard by the secretary on appeal. The Land Office has agreed to grant patents in two cases and has denied the request in two others and the appeal is on the latter.

JAPANESE GIVE UP REALTY IN MANILA.

PROTEST FORCES SALE OF PROPERTY SECURED FROM SPANISH OWNER.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MANILA, Aug. 18.—Japanese today gave up ownership of a 5000-acre rice plantation near Manila, which has been the storm center of protests to the government by Filipinos.

Several months ago, following purchase of the land by Japanese from a Spanish owner, a thousand residents of the province marched in a body to Manila and made formal protest to Gov. Francis Burton Harrison of sale of Philippine land to Japanese.

The property today was transferred to a representative of the Filipino tenants, the sale price being $400,000.

French Exports, Imports Gain.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Aug. 19.—An official list of imports and exports from Jan. 1 to July 31, 1920 shows increase of 3,735,502,000 francs in imports and 7,330,238,000 francs in exports over the same period last year.

JAPS WON'T REMOVE GUARDS FROM CHINA.

BOLSHEVIKI MENACE GIVEN AS EXCUSE FOR KEEPING TROOPS THERE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Aug. 18.—Japan has sent a communication to China saying the government is unable to comply with China's request for a withdrawal of the Japanese guards on the Chinese Eastern Railroad.

The communication points out that the guards were stationed on the railroad primarily to prevent possible invasion of Manchuria and Korea by the Bolsheviki, and that existing conditions still prevent withdrawing "this barrier against Bolshevik penetration."

This action, the communication says, was in accordance with an agreement of the powers to put the railroad on an international footing until a legitimate Russian government, capable of preserving law and order was established. It states that Japan, therefore, does not feel under obligation to consider China's request.

GLEN ELLISON

At Trinity Auditorium

Several thousand people attending this remarkable New York concert heard the popular Scotch baritone, Glen Ellison, sing in person as he stood beside the New Edison, singing at times alone, at times in unison with his own New Edison RE-CREATIONS, and when the New Edison continued alone, affording the great audience the best possible opportunity to compare the artist's voice with the RE-CREATIONS.

—but in spite of this severe gruelling there was not one in the great audience who could tell the voice of the living Glen Ellison from the voice of Glen Ellison RE-CREATED by the New Edison.

COX HITS G.O.P. CAMPAIGN FUND

Charges Selfish Interests Are Contributors.

Nominee Makes Promises of Tax Reductions.

Favors Regulation of Cold Storage Plants.

SOUTH BEND (Ind.) Aug. 19.—Charges that at least $15,000,000 is being contributed to the Republican campaign fund by selfish interests, were made today by Gov. Cox in two addresses opening the Indiana Democratic campaign.

"That is its low mark," he said, "and the sky apparently is the limit. In Ohio $500,000 was raised in the twinkling of an eye. They have subdivided America into seven districts and influential men, representing selfish and greedy interests are passing the hat. They are trying to buy a governmental underholt. It is a mere bagatelle with what the contributors expect to get back."

Pleas for the League of Nations, denunciation of what he said was the Republican plan for a separate peace with Germany, promises of tax reductions and problems of the high cost of living were other features of the addresses. He spoke to laborers today on the Courthouse Square, attended a banquet of the Indiana Democratic Editors' Association and tonight addressed another large public meeting.

ATTACKS WALL STREET.

The Governor declared Wall street interests were planning to "emasculate the Federal Reserve Act, should the Republicans win, by providing that bankers only shall be eligible to a Federal reserve board membership, to secure power over credits and interest rates.

He also urged Federal regulation of packers and other cold storage concerns with time limits for storage of foodstuffs.

To the editors in his audience, Gov. Cox gave his views on the print paper situation, urging reforestation, inveighing against a print paper combination and declaring manipulation and panic have contributed to paper shortage. He suggested Federal supervision. He also took sharp exception to Senator Harding's depreciation of the disappearance of political organs, urging an "independent press," he said Senator Harding's was "a dangerous proposal," suggesting control of papers by the "Senate oligarchy."

Tennessee's ratification of suffrage brought from the candidate, in his advocacy of the League, the statement that "war is more impossible today than yesterday."

"Because, thank God," he added, "the mothers of America have a voice in saying when war shall or shall not be."

"Their mother instinct is going to stay the hand of war and that is sufficient to justify the cause of woman suffrage."

LEAGUE IS NEEDED.

The League, he declared, is necessary to keep faith with the boys who died in France," and also, he said, involves "the purse, the home, happiness and the self-respect of every man, woman and child." It is needed, he said, to reduce the cost of living by decreasing taxes for armament and by stabilizing agriculture and industry.

Republican arguments that the League would impair American sovereignty were pronounced "moonshine" by the Governor, declaring that if American sovereignty were impaired, so would be that of twenty-nine other League members.

"The League of Nations is the salvation of the peoples of every nation," he said.

ATTACKS REPUBLICANS.

Republican opposition, Gov. Cox reiterated, is "a smoke screen of hypocrisy to secure the spoils of office." He also denied that the League would get America into every European squabble.

Some Republicans, Gov. Cox said, objected to President Wilson's visit to France.

"The President went," he asserted, "to prevent consummation of a dishonorable peace," and "he won a greater victory at the peace table than was secured in battle."

Gov. Cox also rapped Sen. Harding's front porch campaign and often assailed the Republican "Senatorial oligarchy," which he said was now "attempting to elect one of its members President."

Attacking the Republican campaign fund, Gov. Cox said,

"This will be used in certain close and pivotal States, and it will be put to the uses, which cannot be defined in 'ethics.'"

Certain bankers, who, the Governor said, are contributing, are those, who, he charged, were seeking to emasculate the Federal Reserve Act.

"Many bankers, in writing their checks," he continued, "to the Republican National Committee, are simply making an investment. Such contributions would not be received by the Democrats."

Referring to the spread of Bolshevism, Gov. Cox declared:

"The surest guarantee of Bolshevism is an administration which is revealed to have bought the Presidency."

The Republicans, Gov. Cox said, believed "this is a Republican year, and followed by presenting the metaphor of a man trying to carry a bundle of eels in a shawlstrap."

In pledging himself to Federal cold storage control, Gov. Cox charged that the Republican leaders had held the Kenyon control bill in committee, continuing:

"Give me a Democratic Congress and I will promise to get it out of committee quicker than you can say 'Jack Robinson.'"

That he would call a special session of Congress next March, if elected, was indicated by Gov. Cox in declaring:

"I favor repealing as many of the war taxes as possible, and doing it in the early part of March."

Someone asked why there were no laws now regulating cold storage, and Gov. Cox said a Federal law was necessary, because, State laws limiting foodstuffs storage could be circumvented by removal of food from the State.

"Republicans have been in control of Congress two years. They should tell the country why legislation for regulation of cold storage plants was not passed," declared the speaker.

The woolen industry, Gov. Cox also said, was "pretty well under trust control," with mills closed in the face of sustained demand.

"These interests," he continued, "know perfectly well they have been protected in the past by reactionary administrations."

BOOZE CONSIGNMENT CAUSE OF SHOOTING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—One man is wounded and arrested, charged with attempted grand larceny, while two river pirates are either drowned or missing as the result of an effort to carry off a consignment of wine and alcohol valued at $500,000 from the Oriental steamship pier at the foot of West Forty-sixth street yesterday.

The wounded man, who was arrested because of his failure to give a clear story of his night's wanderings, gave the name of Timothy Sullivan, a longshoreman. He has two bullet wounds in his right thigh.

A watchman on the pier heard the puttering of a motorboat and saw the craft a few feet away. There was no one in the boat and he started to search the pier. Flashing a searchlight he found three men hiding behind some cargo. Drawing his revolver he started to shoot. Soon he heard two splashes in the water, the men jumping from the pier. Searching about he failed to find them and then started to comb the pier for the third man. No trace of [illegible] found.

ISSUES OUTLINED BY POINDEXTER.

Americanism Paramount in Coming Elections.

Preserve United States as Sovereign Nation.

Questions to be Answered by Voters, Says Senator.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Aug. 19.—Declaring that the whole future of the United States is to be determined by the Senatorial elections this year, the paramount issue of which he defined as Americanism against internationalism, United States Senator Miles Poindexter, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, tonight outlined several questions he said would be answered by the voters.

Those questions, he said, dealt with "the preservation of the United States as a sovereign and independent nation with complete control over its foreign and domestic affairs;" the Monroe Doctrine; "the protection of American manufacturers with particular reference to new industries developed during the war;" the promotion of American foreign trade with every encouragement and safeguard which our citizens, both at home and abroad, have a right to expect from their government; "cancellation or amendment of treaties which prevent us from giving preferential tariff rates on goods imported in American ships; free use of the Panama Canal by American ships and reasonable toll charges for foreign ships;" and "repudiation of wholly unauthorized international agreements made by the Democratic administration with certain oriental countries."

The latter, Senator Poindexter's statement said, "have been promulgated as the policy of the United States, wholly without authority, because they have never been submitted, as required by the Constitution of the United States, for the consent and approval of the Senate."

REDS MURDER MOSLEM LEADER

Fatali Khan of Azerbaidjan Feared by Bolsheviki.

Slain President of Republic Country's Biggest Man.

Always Friendly Toward the American Relief Workers.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The assassination of Fatali Khan Khoisky, the great man of the Moslem republic of Azerbaidjan, in a motion picture theater of Tiflis, Republic of Georgia, was witnessed by a number of the American army officers attached to the Haskell mission to Armenia, according to Maj. James Ulio, who has just returned from Transcaucasia, where he was in charge of the transportation and supply system of the Near East relief.

The murder was the work of a Bolshevist agent who had been sent from Paku to get rid of a man who was feared by the Reds now in power in Azerbaidjan as a possible leader of the Tartars to overthrow the minority soviet government, which seized the reins of authority in the oil republic on April 27, Maj. Ulio claims. In his official capacity as head of the railroads of transCaucasia for the Near East relief, Maj. Ulio was frequently in close touch with the Tartar leader, as Azerbaidjan controls the fuel supply of all the Transcaucasian railroads.

POWERFUL MAN.

"Fatali Khan was one of the big men of the Middle East," the American officer stated. "His loss is a loss of one of the elements of stability in the Transcaucasia situation.

"Back in 1917, after the breakup of the Russian imperial army on the Turkish front, when the three Transcaucasia states, Armenia, Georgia and Azerbaidjan, formed a Federal government to take over the management of affairs from the wreckage that the departure of the Grand Duke Nikolai Nikolaievitch had left, Khan Khoisky was one of the members of the Transcaucasiar Committee, with the portfolio of justice. Later, on May 28, 1918, when Moslem Azerbaidjan separated from Christian Georgia and Armenia and set up a government of its own, Fatali Khan Khoisky was elected first President of the Republic of Azerbaidjan, whose capital was then located at Gandja (Elizabethpol.)

"It was thanks to Fatali Khan's astuteness that the Tartars of Azerbaidjan always presented a united front to the other Transcaucasian states, while the Armenians and the Georgians were bitterly divided among themselves. This was the secret of the Mohammedan strength in Transcaucasia.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS MINISTER.

"Khan Khoisky was not only President of Azerbaidjan, but Minister for Foreign Affairs, as well, in the early days. Subsequently, Nicholas Usoubbekoff was elected President of the Tartar republic, but Khan Khoisky remained Minister for Foreign Affairs. It was he who conducted all the negotiations with Tchitcherin, the soviet Foreign Commissar and he who rejected every proposal of alliance between Azerbaidjan and soviet Russia with a view to catching the Denikin forces between two hostile armies, insisting stubbornly on an unqualified recognition of Azerbaidjan by the de facto government of Russia, before the Tartars would enter into any relations whatever with the soviets.

"This stand of Fatali Khan's is undoubtedly what inflamed the Reds against him and what has led to his assassination.

SHOT AT THEATER.

"Khan Khoisky and Khalil Bey Khasmamedoff, another Tartar leader, who had been exiled from Azerbaidjan since the soviet revolution in that country, were attending an open air cinema show in the Rustaveli Prospect in Tiflis, where all the American officers were also in the habit of going in the evening. It was after the show, when the audience was going out, and the street in front of the theater was crowded that a man stepped out of the crowd and in front of everyone emptied six shots into the late President of the Azerbaidjan republic, and one into his companion, Khalil Bey. The latter was only wounded."

McBurney's Kidney and Bladder Medicine

CHICAGO, March 20.
MR. W. F. McBURNEY,
Los Angeles, Cal.
Dear Sir: It affords me pleasure to testify to the efficiency of your Kidney and Bladder Cure. I have been troubled with my kidneys and bladder for over four years. I have been treated by Dr. C. A. Purdy and Dr. Frank Wallis, the latter being my son. I regret to say they did me no good. I was advised to spend the winter in Los Angeles, which I did. On the night before I left for home I got a bottle of your medicine. The first dose did me good and I was well when I reached home, and I can say in conclusion that I am grateful to you. If this letter is of any use to you use it.

What to Use and Avoid On Faces That Perspire

Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must perspire—must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's waste material. Certain creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing, especially during the heated period. If more women understood this, there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics they would have healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also uncloggs the pores. Result: The fresher, younger underskin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. The exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Obtain an ounce of mercolized wax from your druggist and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream for a week or two, washing it off mornings.

To remove wrinkles, here's a marvelously effective treatment, which also acts naturally and harmlessly: Dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel and use as a wash lotion.—[Advertisement.

COURT CLERK INDICTED FOR BIG EMBEZZLEMENT.

Clyde Johnson is Accused as Result of Vanishing of Police Funds; Bail is Thirty Thousand; No Arrest.

An indictment was returned late yesterday afternoon naming Clyde Johnson, a Police Court clerk, as the man who is suspected of having embezzled $24,000 from the Police Court safe at Central Station. Bail is fixed at $30,000.

At a late hour last night Johnson had not been arrested. A squad of detectives, armed with the warrant for his arrest, visited the suspect's summer home at Hermosa Beach last night, but Johnson was not at home. The detectives then started on a tour of his favorite haunts, cafes, beach resorts and the homes of his friends, in an effort to locate him.

Johnson has known for several days that the detectives kept constant vigil over all his movements. He had even gone so far as to call in Attorney Paul Schenck during his conferences with the police authorities. When questioned about this action, he replied:

"Due to the statements made by the detectives, I am guilty in the eyes of the public. To prove my innocence, it is no more than right that I should now think of preparing my defense."

HOME PICKETED.

The Johnson home at Hermosa Beach, was picketed throughout the night, but the house remained dark and none of the suspect's family put in their appearance. Since Johnson has known that he is under surveillance, the police believe that he is only remaining out of their reach long enough to secure his bondsmen, and to raise the necessary $30,000 bail to avoid the displeasure of remaining in jail over night.

The indictment was returned after a long session of the county grand jury, which ended very abruptly, following the testimony of a "mystery" witness. This witness, a 200-pound Austrian, was sprung as a surprise on those who had followed the case, and it is believed that upon his testimony, hinges the strongest evidence to be presented by the prosecution. His identity was zealously guarded by the detectives, and when he departed from the jury room, every precaution was taken to prevent any inquisitive person from trailing him.

Johnson is a prominent figure in local political circles. He has been a clerk in Police Judge Chesbro's court for many years and has taken active parts in many of the city's heated political campaigns. Aside from the position he holds on the city pay roll he is also engaged in an automobile sales business.

Though he has appeared daily in the courtroom to perform his duties he has been constantly watched since the discovery of the rifled safe, of which he was the sole custodian. Indications that all was not well with the funds in the safe were first sensed by City Auditor Myers when the contents of the safe were not turned in at the proper time. According to Auditor Myers, Johnson should have transferred the money to the city treasury before the middle of last week.

ASKED ABOUT MONEY.

When the money was not transferred up to last Saturday a deputy City Auditor was sent to inquire Johnson's reason for not doing so. He was told by Johnson that his accounts did not balance, that the books showed a shortage of $112. The deputy City Auditor then began auditing Johnson's accounts and by Monday night they still showed a shortage of $10. Auditor Myers then instructed Johnson to transfer the money to the treasurer by Tuesday noon. But on Tuesday morning Johnson reported the theft of the money, aggregating about $24,000. Since then a careful check of the books has shown that all of the July receipts, totaling slightly over $29,000, are still missing. Mr. Myers explained last night that the loss may not reach this figure as it might be included in the August funds, which have not yet been audited.

Then, upon investigation, Detective Sergeants Herman Cline, Tom O'Brien and Earl Cato stated they had learned that $29,000 had been withdrawn by Johnson from a local bank in various sums. It was also stated that Johnson had lost $8800 in a recent stock-exchange deal and had dropped $13,000 in poker games.

THREE-HOUR QUIZ.

With this information before it the grand jury took the case in its own hands yesterday and for three hours grilled six witnesses. These were two city officials, a detective, a broker, a bank official and the mysterious Austrian.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stafford did the questioning at the hearing. Detective Sergeant Cline was the first witness. His testimony was brief. Then City Auditor Myers, burdened with his audit accounts, was called. He was followed by A. H. Crary, a stock broker, who told of the suspect's losses in the stock market. Deputy Auditor Whitmore, who audited the books of Police Judge Chesbro's court, told of the funds that had been deposited and the funds that were missing from the Police Court safe. G. M. Wells, auditor for the Security Trust and Savings Bank, produced the books of the bank, showing the funds withdrawn by the suspect during the last few weeks.

Pleads to Keep Odor of Tamale on Night Winds.

"The tamale put Los Angeles on the map," said Councilman Wheeler yesterday in an address to the Council protesting against the banishment of the night lunch-wagon from streets of the city. "These wagons are almost an institution of our city. Cabrillo and his sailors are said to have found them here when they landed. Drive these wagons from our streets? Never! Regulate them, inspect them, make their owners keep their dish water clean—yes, but the wagons should stay and continue to send into the night air the delightful odor of the tamale."

Health Commissioner Powers had recommended that the wagons be driven from the streets as unsanitary, but yesterday the lunch-wagon owners appeared and protested to the Council. Will Tate, John M. Gray, J. E. O'Neill and George S. Blackstad, a returned service man, who own wagons, spoke in their defense as did Marshal Zeno of the American Legion. The Council took the matter under consideration.

WILL BUY ESPEE WHARF.

Harbor Board Must Meet Demands for Enlarged Docking Space.

Plans of the Board of Harbor Commissioners for the immediate development of the harbor, it was announced yesterday, include the purchase from the Southern Pacific Railroad of its wharf at Fifth street in order to provide docking space requested by the shipping companies. The commissioners say that the demand from steamship companies for berthing space is insistent, and the purchase of the Southern Pacific wharf at an approximate cost of $100,000 would meet some of the demands until additional new wharves can be built.

MEMORIAL ON BALLOT.

Council Formally Approves Listing of Proposed Bond Issues.

Formal authority to place upon the ballots for the primaries to be held on the 31st inst., the proposed bond issues for a Memorial Auditorium and Civic Coliseum was voted yesterday by the City Council. The former structure, to be built at Normal Hill Center, will cost $4,100,000, and the coliseum and stadium, which is to be at Exposition Park, will cost $900,000.

Mary Pickford's Mother Asks Court to Allow Her to Change Her Name.

Mrs. Charlotte Smith, mother of Mary Pickford Fairbanks, Jack Pickford and Lotta Smith Rupp, desires by an order of the court to eliminate the family name of Smith and substitute that of Pickford, now so well known in the motion-picture world.

Mrs. Smith petitioned the courts yesterday to change her name to Charlotte Pickford, stating as her reasons that she owns considerable property which stands in the name of Charlotte Pickford, and that her children are known as Pickford in business, social and professional life.

Mrs. Smith was born at Toronto, Can. She is represented by Attorneys Woolwine and Giesler.

CITY SPLIT; MONTEBELLO FREE AGAIN.

Vote of People Breaks Up Municipality Formed to Keep Sewer Farm Out.

From this date forth the history of Monterey Park and Montebello, will be "A Tale of Two Cities." By a vote of 376 to 6, electors of the municipality of Monterey Park voted yesterday to allow Montebello to withdraw from the city, and paved the way for that community to establish a municipal government of its own.

Permission to withdraw is the fulfillment of a "gentlemen's agreement," made four years ago, when the consolidation of Monterey, Montebello and part of Ramona Acres was made as a scheme of mutual protection.

At that time, it was the plan of Pasadena, South Pasadena and Alhambra to establish a "sewer farm," a sort of sewage disposal plant, on property between the three communities. No State law provided the courts with power to prevent the execution of the plan, so all the territory between the towns was made into one municipality under the name of Monterey Park. As soon as a city government was established, an ordinance was passed, prohibiting for all time the depositing of garbage within the corporate limits. The three larger towns were forced to go elsewhere with their refuse.

The object of the original consolidation having been accomplished, Montebello, now a town of 3000 persons, is again set free.

Which of These Candidates Do You Want for President?

THEIR VIEWS ON AGRICULTURE.

Warren G. Harding

"LET US facilitate co-operation to insure against the risks attending agriculture . . . and as like co-operation to market their products as directly as possible with the consumer, in the interests of all. Upon such association and co-operation should be laid only such restrictions as will prevent arbitrary control of our food supply and the fixing of extortionate price upon it."—From Harding's speech of acceptance.

James B. Cox

"AGRICULTURE is but another form of industry. In fact, it is the basis of industry, because upon it depends the food supply. The drift from the countryside into the cities carries dispiriting portent. If our growth in manufacturing in the next few years holds its present momentum, it will be necessary to import foodstuffs."—From Cox's speech of acceptance.

INLAND TOWNS BENEFIT FROM HARBOR'S GROWTH.

Crown City Conference Leads to Forming Permanent Organization to Forward Port Development.

More than 200 representatives of commercial interests of Southern California communities, meeting at Pasadena last night, formed a permanent organization to promote the interests and development of Los Angeles Harbor.

Maynard McFie, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was chosen chairman of the organization, which was named the Joint Conference on Harbor Development and will meet quarterly. W. W. Wilmot is secretary.

The motion to make the conference group permanent followed several speeches at the Pasadena Hotel by Los Angeles men, who pointed out the benefits accruing from the harbor to all neighboring communities, as well as this city. Plans for development as well as the imperative need for further growth were explained at the gathering, which assembled under the direction of William Dunkerley, secretary of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce.

Los Angeles sent a large delegation. Other cities and towns represented included Alhambra, Bell, Cudahy, Maywood, Corona, Long Beach, Lamanda Park, Ontario, Pasadena, Pomona, Riverside, San Pedro, South Pasadena, Wilmington, Anaheim, Balboa and Lomita. The following Los Angeles organizations were officially represented: Associated Jobbers, Commercial Board, Chamber of Commerce, World Traders, Hundred Per Cent Club and the Realty Board.

John McWilliams, president of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce, in a brief welcoming speech, said that the meeting had been called to develop a spirit of unity in Southern California in support of the port. community.

Local Chamber of Commerce officials made the principal speeches, and these were followed by informal talks by delegates from other cities. Among the speakers were Clarence H. Matson, manager of the Foreign Trade Committee; Samuel L. Kreider, chairman of the Foreign Trade Committee, and John D. Fredericks, all representing the local organization.

SOUTHLAND'S PORT.

"The city of Los Angeles really does not own the harbor," said Mr. Matson, who formerly was traffic manager of the city harbor department. "It belongs to the people of the State of California. As a harbor, it is just as much the property of Pasadena and Riverside as it is of Los Angeles.

"When the Legislature of 1910 gave Los Angeles the harbor in trust for the people of the State, it imposed certain duties upon the trustee. First, it must improve the harbor for the benefit of the public, and it must administer it without discrimination. Los Angeles can not give its own citizens any privileges or benefits that are not allowed to the citizens of any other community.

The port's popularity is growing rapidly. Eighteen months ago only four lines sailed from there regularly. Today it is used regularly by twenty-six lines, and four more are clamoring for wharf space."

Citrus fruit growers of Southern California should be specially interested in the harbor, Mr. Matson explained, because of its importance to the industry, particularly since freight rates have been increased. Refrigerated service will be established soon, he predicted, and fruit can be shipped from Los Angeles to New York markets at rates considerably lower than rail charges.

HUGE POSSIBILITIES.

Southern California is building for future great industrial possibilities through the harbor, Mr. Kreider declared.

"It is to our own agriculturists and manufacturers, at seaboard at Los Angeles, Pasadena, Ventura, San Bernardino, etc., that the greatest service can be rendered by having cheap water transportation in and out, maintaining constant markets. It is the function of this gathering, as I understand it, to indicate to those who are not as familiar as some of the rest of us with the Los Angeles harbor project that it is of definite and commercial interest and demands the closest attention of any great project in the southwest."

Unless attention is paid to improving the harbor, Mr. Kreider asserted, there will be insufficient trackage along the whole water

LONE PILOT SAVES LIFE AS BALLOON EXPLODES.

Burned, Hurt, Lowers Himself When Bag Hits Live Wires; Wreckage Starts Fire in Wide Area.

Cadet Kenneth L. Frazier of the Arcadia Balloon School had a marvelous escape from instant death early yesterday afternoon when the big government balloon in which he was making a solo flight crashed into the high-power transmission line of the Southern California Edison Company, exploding in a miniature volcano of flames, about two miles southeast of Elizabeth Lake and about seventy-five miles northeast of Los Angeles.

As the big bag with its 19,000 cubic feet of hydrogen burst into bits and the crossing of the two high-tension cables carried on the poles sent 60,000 volts of electricity through the wreckage, Cadet Frazier, badly burned and injured by the crash, managed to swing clear of the blazing mass and lower himself from danger by dangling on the rope suspended from the basket of the balloon.

The force of the explosion and the terrific heat of the ignited hydrogen struck him before he could reach the ground, inflicting face burns and possible internal injuries and flinging him downward, head first. George Atmore, Antelope Valley rancher, who was racing toward the scene of the tragedy after seeing that a collision was inevitable, reached the pilot's side before the grass fire could spread and carried him out of further danger. Atmore placed Frazier in his automobile and rushed him to Lancaster, eighteen miles east of the scene of the accident, where Dr. S. H. Savage, physician for the Edison company, gave emergency treatment.

The crashing of the heavy balloon against the transmission line broke the supporting arms on which the live wires are carried, causing them to "ground." The instant after the explosion, as the burning wreckage of the balloon and dthe charged wires fell to the ground, the parched stubble and brush covering the country caught fire. Swept by a strong breeze the blaze began to spread in the direction of Del Sur, a small town half-way between Elizabeth Lake and Lancaster. Shortly after 5:20 o'clock last evening the fire was under control, having burned over an area of approximately three miles on a front of a mile and a half.

GRAIN RANCHES SAVED.

Forest Ranger Eli Munz and a force of volunteer fire fighters battled with the crackling stubble and brush for nearly five hours before they announced that fire was curbed. Early last night isolated spots were still burning, but none of the grain ranches in the vicinity was in danger, according to the dispatches from Lancaster and Palmdale.

The accident was one of the most spectacular ever witnessed in Southern California. The balloon and its lone pilot crossed the Sierra Madre Mountains, probably half-way between Mt. Lowe and Mt. Wilson, drifting almost directly north, unless the wind changed sometime between the ascension and the accident. Carrier pigeons, released by Frazier, gave his position to the balloon school authorities and a truckload of cadets, in charge of Capt. George F. Pariah, followed him as far as Palmdale, where they lost all trace of the balloon. When they called the school later in the day they were told of what had occurred and rushed to Lancaster. The explosion took place at 1:19 p.m., the time when the shortage of the power line was recorded at the Edison company's dispatcher's office.

Shortly before the explosion of the big gas bag, ranchers in the vicinity saw the lone figure in the swaying basket struggling at the ropes and saw bags of ballast thrown overboard. As the balloon approached a hill over which the transmission line is carried, Frazier apparently realized that he was in danger of becoming tangled in the wires, and was making a desperate attempt to avoid them. He crashed into the power lines with great force. That the cadet foresaw what was about to happen is indicated by the fact that he was not in the basket when the explosion occurred.

Complete details of the accident and the immediate cause of the disaster were not known to the Southern California officials and the authorities because the transportation facilities in the vicinity of the accident were tied up by the fire. It is believed, however, that Frazier experienced some trouble with his control valves and was carried over the mountains from Arcadia toward Antelope Valley.

The cadet was making what is known as a "solo" flight, a part of the training at the school. He had made eight other flights before the accident, and was graded as a pilot. His basket was attached to a free spherical balloon, with a capacity of hydrogen of 19,000 cubic feet.

Immediately after the news of the accident was received at the school, Capt. Savage, the adjutant, sent an army surgeon and a detachment of men to take care of Frazier and assist the local authorities in fighting the flames.

Shortly before 6 o'clock Frazier

The People and Their Daily Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

PUT YOUR HEART IN YOUR JOB.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A young girl who is just starting out to earn her own bread and butter and cake, asks me if I can tell her how to succeed.

Surely, daughter. Just put your heart in your work. Love your job. Go at it with enthusiasm and you cannot fail.

Enthusiasm is as contagious as the measles, and if you have a bad case of it other people will catch it from you and break out in a rash of faith in you and assistance to you.

You can only interest others in the thing in which you are interested yourself. You can only convince others of the worth of the thing in which you believe with all your soul. Even God only helps those who help themselves.

A woman who is the highest-paid saleswoman in the country once told me that when she first started out as a very young and inexperienced traveling saleswoman that she was trying to sell a big bill of goods to a particularly hard-shelled and grumpy merchant. She wasn't making much headway until a man, sitting near and watching her efforts, put in a word that turned the scale for her and captured a splendid order.

When she later tried to thank the man who had come to her rescue he waved her aside.

"Oh," he said, "everybody will help a person who is as much interested in her work as you are."

And that's the whole of the law and the prophets as regards success, daughter. Everybody will give you a boost up the ladder if they see you are dead bent on climbing to the top, but no one will shove you up if you sit down at the bottom of it and look as if you didn't care whether you moved up or down or had any interest in ladders, anyhow.

You are starting out as a stenographer. You are a little slow. You make a good many mistakes. Your spelling isn't as dependable as it should be. If you are lackadaisical and bored looking, and dawdle around with the air of an early Christian martyr because you have to work at all, you will be fired at the first slackening of business, or shelved to some obscure place where your inefficiency will do the least harm, and you will never rise any higher or get any better pay.

But if you go at your job with enthusiasm, if you let your employer see that your very soul is concentrated on pot hooks and typewriters, and that your every thought is concerned with attaining the highest efficiency in your work, he will be patient with your mistakes; he will take time and trouble to teach you business methods, and he will put you in the line of promotion.

It is your attitude towards your work that counts. It may seem to you not to matter whether you are interested or bored stiff by the dictation you take, but it does. A pessimistic, uninterested, weary-unto-death-of-this-sort-of-thing person is a kind of lightning rod that runs his own electric currants of hope and enthusiasm into the ground, and no business man can afford to have her around him. And he won't.

Apply the enthusiasm test to your own experience. Suppose you want to buy a hat. You go into a millinery shop, and a languid young person comes forward, smothering a yawn behind her hand, and looking as if she hated you for disturbing her meditations by your illtimed desire for new headgear. She brings you the first two or three hats she can lay her hands upon without even looking at the shape of your face, then she claps them, hit or miss, on your head, and it's up to you to take or leave them.

That girl couldn't sell you a hat in a million years. The one who gets your money is the clerk who is on her tiptoes, who regards a hat as the noblest work of art, and herself as a sort of miracle worker who makes homely people pretty by putting the right sort of lids on them, who fluffs your hair, and holds the mirror this way and that, and is so enthusiastic about the hat she is trying to sell you that she actually hypnotizes you into believing that if you buy it nobody will be able to tell you and Lillian Russell apart.

Put your heart into your work, daughter. Get so interested in what you are doing that it won't be work any more. It will be play. You know the allure of the game consists in putting your skill of head and hand against some opponent or some adverse conditions. Take that sporting spirit with you to business. Match your cleverness in selling against the customers' doubtfulness about buying. Make a bet with the dictionary that it can't down you on spelling. Break the speed limit with your typewriter. Go exploring into the history of every article your firm sells, and the routes they travel to get to their destinations.

Business is the big game of the world, and it's a fascinating thing to have even the smallest part in it, if girls only would realize it.

Put your heart in your work, daughter. Don't let your job be a side interest, something to think about when you are not thinking about clothes and dances and the movies, and whether Bob will come round tonight or not, but let your work be your chief interest. Lie down and rise up with the thought of it. Eat and sleep and drink the thing you are trying to do, and your success is assured and your pay envelope will grow fat.

Put your heart in your work, for there your heart is, there is your treasure also.

You bet it is. In business.

MAKING MORE MONEY.

How a Cripple Did It

THE loss of both legs, severed well above the knees, would be a shock from which most men would never recover and the majority of them might argue that they were justified in living off the charity of others. But that wasn't the way that George Geiser, of St. Joseph, Mo., looked at it.

Geiser, a few years ago, was a well-paid laborer with a good job at a packing plant. One morning, being a little late for work, he started across the tracks without looking either way. A switch engine happened to come along right then and, when it had passed, Geiser lay legless and unconscious. While he was still in the hospital he determined not only to make a living for himself, but to make more money than before his accident. As the first move he opened up a "general store" in an old lunch wagon, selling cigars, tobacco, candy, newspapers and magazines to the thousands of packing-house employes. The wagon was cold and dirty and didn't suit George—but what could he do?

One day an idea struck him. There was a big silo near the tracks which was unused, except for an advertising sign painted on the outside. Of course, no one had ever run a silo store before, but Geiser didn't see any reason why it shouldn't be done. It would be more comfortable than his wagon, at any rate. So he got permission to use the "first floor" of the silo as a store and, within a month, was making more money than he had previously drawn on salary. His "silage"—as he calls his wares—sells well and, while Geiser may be legless, he's never smileless. A tidy balance in the bank is the reason for that.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question: When and how did the political phrase, "looking after his fences," originate? A. M. P.

Answer: In 1880 when Gen. Grant's friends made him a candidate for a third Presidential nomination, Elihu B. Washburne, who had been one of his supporters in the past, was brought forward as a candidate by the opposition to Grant. On May 5 of that year a great demonstration for Grant was staged at Springfield, Ill. Washburne, who was in Springfield that day, escaped the embarrassment of meeting Grant on such an occasion by suddenly taking a train for Maine, with the explanation that he had to make the trip to "look after the fences" on a farm he owned there.

A.: On April 30, 1919, Brooklyn and Philadelphia played twenty innings to a nine-run tie score on the Philadelphia National League field. The score stood 6 and 6 at the end of the ninth inning and no run after that was scored by either team until the nineteenth inning. In the nineteenth both teams made three runs.

Q.: Is the breeding of reindeer established on a commercial basis in the United States? O. I. T.

A.: The North American Reindeer Company, capitalized at $750,000, has been granted a concession of 75,850 square miles of land north of the Churchill River, upon which to graze caribou and reindeer. The government charges the nominal sum of 4 cents an acre per year for the use of the land.

Q.: What is the largest nugget of gold ever found? E. A. D.

A.: What is believed to be the largest nugget of pure gold was found in one of the mines in Belgian Congo. The lump weigh was a little over twelve ounces.

Q.: How much land did Great Britain acquire in East Africa from Germany? J. B. A.

A.: Great Britain was given the mandate over 366,000 square miles of former German territory, or an area greater than the whole of Germany before the war. It has been named the Tanganyka Territory.

GASOLINE ALLEY—BOY, CALL THE JUNK MAN!

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Started Something.

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] My attention is drawn to a statement printed in The Times of August 5, in an article headed, "Cheap Lemons and Co-operation." In this article it is stated that "high school boys are making as high as $16 a night fumigating."

The fumigating men in our employ come up to us and flourish the above statement in our face and want to know why they cannot get, or make, as much as high school boys in other places. The high school boy is well known as an undisciplined and, for his age, an immature physical human organism, so would not be able to stand the long hours of unremitting strain of labor which fumigation work would require of its votaries to make $16 a day or night. It taxes the strength of our regular fumigators to make from $8 to $12 a day at a dollar an hour and twelve hours is the very most time one can fumigate properly just now.

The reason I write this letter is on account of its over-statement of high school boy earnings, which induces otherwise satisfied and competent men to ask and demand more pay, because they read in the paper a statement as quoted above from an industry that at present lies prostrate on its financial back. We do not begrudge the high wages, but we certainly must have the wherewithal to pay them.

ELMER H. SELLERS,
Fumigation Foreman Arlington Heights Fruit Company.

Prices Are Higher.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It seems that the Y.M.C.A. has not learned its lesson from the disgust and hatred incurred against it during the war, due to its profiteering practices at that time among the soldiers, but is continuing right along the same pathway at the present time.

From a study of the charges of all the cafeterias in Los Angeles I find that the Y.M.C.A. cafeteria is the only one that has the gall to charge 7 cents for a cup of coffee and 10 cents for a pot, while most of the other cafeterias are charging only 5 cents for a cup of coffee and 7 or 8 cents for a pot—one large cafeteria on Hill street even at present charging but 5 cents for a pot of coffee. On no item of the bill of fare is the Y.M.C.A. cheaper than other cafeterias and on several other dishes, sliced tomatoes (12 cents) and stuffed bell peppers (20 cents,) their charges are greater.

And this is the institution that has the nerve to keep asking the general public for support!

IRWING J. MANDELL.

Wants a Change.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been a subscriber of your paper ever since coming to California, as I am told there are only two morning papers in the city, and the other is impossible, but, I rise to protest.

I am weary to nausea of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks. Can't we, oh, can't we have from some of the diverse talent of the family, being public?

Is there not enough news to fill the paper, with the destructive element eliminated? They claim a shortage of paper; it seems to us that even more might be a blessing, at least of the divorce and murder were left out.

I think I will have to C. S. Monitor for news of the daily paper if it keeps on the past few weeks. In the name of humanity, give the public a rest. Mary and Doug, at least.

I have no wish to break up a home, or tell anyone how to run theirs, but we are so very weary of the "love and destruction" a little more news might be a change.

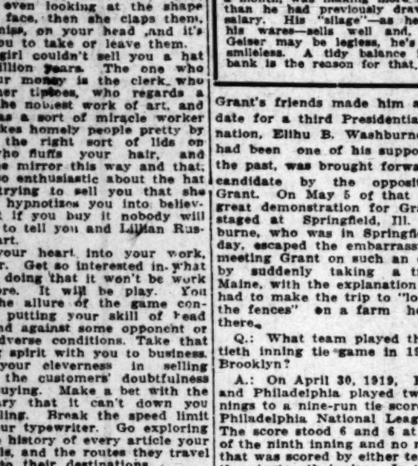
MEN'S SILK SHIRTS



HOW often you are told to be careful in laundering the menfolks' silk shirts. You must not discolor them; you must not let them fade—and they must not be injured so that the silk is weakened.

Sounds like a big task—but not at all. Just use Ivory Soap Flakes and the cleansing of silk shirts becomes really easy, without any worry at all, because you know they will not be harmed in any way by good old Ivory Soap. The thin, snowlike flakes of Ivory Soap melt to a delicate, cleansing, foamy suds the instant they touch hot water. Cool the suds till lukewarm, and wash the silk just by swishing and swirling it in the soapy foam. You don't have to rub, so there's no chance for injury.

Wash all silks this new way next time. The men will be delighted, too. Get Ivory Soap Flakes at your dealer's.

For a Debutante and a Bride.

Miss Alma Barman of 454 South Normandie avenue, is assembling a coterie of girl friends to meet Miss Katherine Worden, a belle of New York, visiting Miss Anne Morse of Pasadena, and who is sharing honors with Mrs. Ross McPhee (Grachen Denman,) a bride. Baskets filled with blue delphinium and pink roses add an attractive touch in the dining-room, and other parts of the house.

Among those calling are Misses Katherine Thomas, Margarita and Camilla Schneider, Rowena Schneider, Evangeline Grier, Madge Ferris, Doris Collins, Letitia Rees, Genevieve Murray, Mona Wood, Nancy Billicke, Birdie Strawser, Eleanor Johnson, Agnes Eisenmayer, Doris Oesting, Irene Brauer, Maria Staunton, Virginia Turner and Mmes. Albert Hays Busch, Clemmons McNamara, Howard Wells and Dwight Buckingham. Miss Mona Wood is leaving tomorrow for Mills College.

By Mrs. Brunswig.

A charming little garden tea was that at which Mrs. Lucien N. Brunswig complimented Mrs. W. J. O'Donnell and her house guest, Mrs. L. Denegre Kennard of New Orleans. There were thirty guests.

Mrs. Ellington's Luncheon.

An attractive luncheon at the Los Angeles Country Club was Mrs. Allen W. Ellington's way of complimenting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Bethune of New Orleans. The table was set in the blue room, and was adorned with dahlias in mixed colors. A tiny bronze El Camino Real bell was at Mrs. Bethune's place, and hand-painted cards showing the bell indicated plates for Mmes. Mathew S. Robertson, Grantland Seaton Long, W. J. O'Donnell, L. Denegre Kennard, Wesley Clar, C. Q. Stanton, Samuel Carey Dunlap, and Misses Isabel Bethune and Chilton. Afterward, Mrs. O'Donnell and Mrs. Robertson told negro and French dialect stories.

Ellen Beach Yaw to Wed.

Ellen Beach Yaw (Lark Ellen,) well-known coloratura soprano and song writer, is to be married on Sunday evening at twilight to Franklin Cannon, a musician, who arrived here yesterday from New York. When he alighted from the train he could not see Mme. Yaw, who was there to meet him, so she attracted him by singing a few bars from "The Skylark," which they wrote together. The ceremony will take place at the ranch home of Thorpe, and will be witnessed by thirty guests. The couple plan to devote their time to concertizing, and when they are at home will be at Lark Ellen ranch at Covina.

Told at Tea.

Mrs. Carolyn Penfield of 351 South Vendome, yesterday announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Myrtle May Penfield and Mr. Verne Frazee of China. He is arriving here today from the Orient. The wedding will take place Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Penfield.

Assisting at the tea urns were Miss Elizabeth MacGuire, who is to be maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Holmes, Mrs. Sydney Johnson and Mrs. Percival Harland. Mrs. Howard Varney is entertaining at tea for the bride-elect this afternoon, and is being assisted by her sister, Miss Juanita Wilson. Mr. Frazee is to be host at a dinner and theater party tomorrow evening, and on Sunday, Miss MacGuire will compliment the couple with a buffet supper for eighteen guests. After the ceremony, Mr. Frazee will go East with his bride. He has been in China the past seven years in the mining business. Miss Penfield graduated from Los Angeles High School and went to San Francisco for eighteen months, returning last April. Miss Dorothy Holmes gave a house party at her cabin in Malibu this past week-end in honor of Miss Penfield and her most intimate friends.

Interesting Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Reynolds of 1247 Windsor Boulevard, Los Angeles, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Cornelia Reynolds, to Mr. George C. Kimball of Muskegon, Mich. Mr. Kimball is a nephew of Mrs. George Fletcher of this city. The wedding will be an event of the near future.

Miss Johnson.

Miss Norris Johnson is honoree at a most enjoyable house party being given by Mrs. A. H. Pullman at her summer home on the Russian River. Among the Los Angeles folk, who have joined them, are Miss Bernardine Roaks and her brother, Lieut.-Commander Roaks, Blak Smith, Perry Wood, and Lieut. John Lusk of the Submarine Base. Miss Johnson was a guest of Mrs. Herbert Shrader, a former classmate of San Francisco earlier in the summer. She is expected home next week.

Dinner Dance.

Miss Dorothy Stratton is to be hostess at a dinner at the Los Angeles Country Club on Saturday evening, the company dancing afterward.

House Party and Barbecue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maurer have gone to Catalina, and Saturday are to be hosts at a Spanish barbecue at Middlebranch, that is to be cooked on a huge bonfire by M. Amar, their famous chef. There are to be fifty guests and a smaller company will remain over the week-end with them. In this party, are Mr. and Mrs. John Newton Russell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Hawkins, and Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Hollingsworth. Mr. and Mrs. Maurer are just home from a two months' trip to New York, Boston, Washington and Chicago.

Personals.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Barham, who have just returned from an extended trip to the Orient, are leaving today for Balboa, where they are to keep open house at their cottage, until the middle of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert De Witt, have returned from Santa Cruz and San Francisco, where they went by motor.

Miss Lucia Frances Turner is at Del Monte visiting Miss Katherine Cheney, who is there for the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cheney.

Miss Catherine Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran of 743 Ardmore avenue, has gone to Mills College, where she will resume her studies. She graduated last February from the Los Angeles High School.

ASTHMA RUINS LOVE'S DREAM.

Husband's Ailment Cause of Divorce; It Terrifies Her, Says Wife.

A new cause for severing the marital lines apparently crept into the records yesterday when Judge Crail granted Mrs. Rae Goldman an annulment of her marriage to Sam Goldman.

The latter did not tell his wife before their marriage that he had asthma. As a consequence of his ill health, his love making overtaxed his strength.

His condition terrified her, Mrs. Goldman stated.

HUSBAND GETS OPTION OF CHEST OR ALIMONY.

The ownership of a cedar chest was involved during the trial of the divorce suit of Bethina Fisher against Dennis R. Fisher in Judge Taft's court yesterday. Mr. Fisher had possession of the chest and Mrs. Fisher wanted it. The court, granting her a decree, gave Mr. Fisher the alternative of paying alimony of $25 a week for six months or keeping the chest and keeping up the alimony for a year. Mrs. Fisher was a telephone girl when she married. She is 19 and he is 29 years old.

SAVINGS GAMBLED AWAY.

Mrs. Mary Townsend of Pomona, who was granted a divorce from J. H. Townsend by Judge Taft yesterday, declared that instead of paying off a mortgage on a farm they were buying, her husband had gambled away their savings. Subsequently, she said, she came to Pomona from their home in Blythe. Mr. Townsend was angry and told her she would be sorry for leaving.

Notice to Parents!
San Diego Army and Navy Academy

The Academy has enjoyed for years the highest recognition from the Colleges and from the War Department; it is the University of California's "Division A," the highest academic rating; the War Department rates it as Class "M," a real military school; its graduates, on appointment, are exempted from the regular military examination at West Point.

The deep heart interest in a boy, the spirit of good fellowship, the great amount of individual care and attention given the student, the Academy's genuinely democratic atmosphere and absolute freedom from snobbishness—these are some of the features that are so strongly appealing to red-blooded young Americans and to discriminating parents.

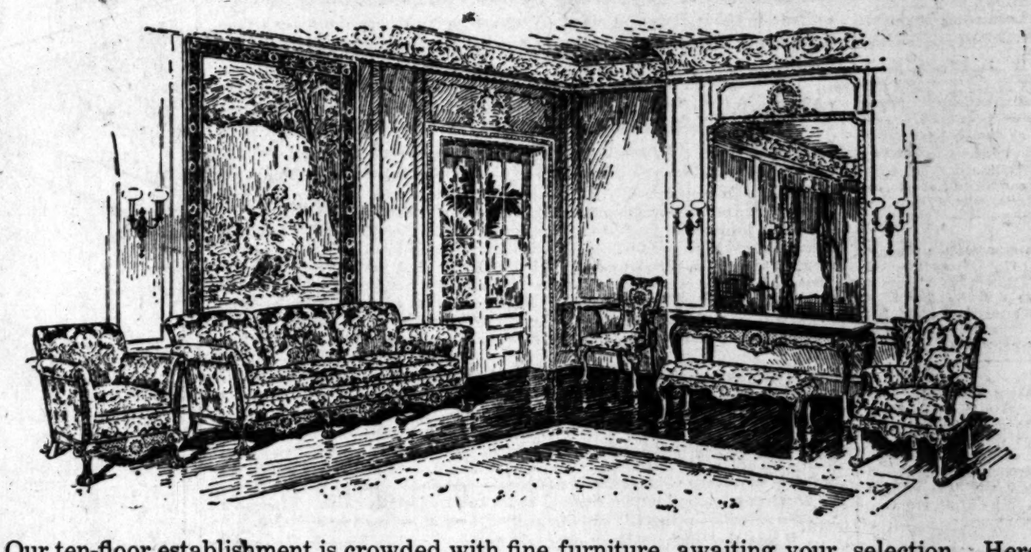
Pasadena FURNITURE CO. Ten Floors—In a Location That Enables Us to Sell for Less Pasadena FURNITURE CO.

Furniture of Dignity and Beauty in the Midsummer Clearance

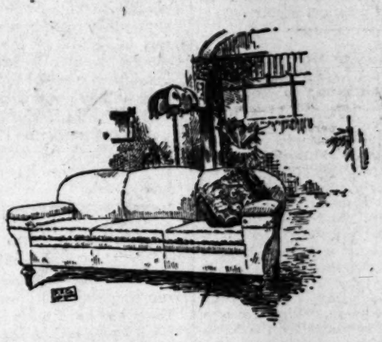


Our ten-floor establishment is crowded with fine furniture awaiting your selection. Here are shown grace of design, beauty of materials, excellence of workmanship and perfection of finish, culminating in a furniture stock that goes out daily to the most beautiful homes of Southern California and all this furniture is offered you at prices that are less than those prevailing elsewhere. Especially is this true during these opportune days of the Midsummer Clearance.

We have been asked many times to explain the how and why of our low prices. The answer is simple. We do a large volume of business under low overhead expense and our turnover is rapid. To maintain the latter during the "dull" Summer season we instituted this Clearance which is not only upholding our million-dollar sales quota but is broadening our reputation as "the store that sells for less."

An Unusual Offer from the Upholstery Department

Among the attractive living-room furniture displayed on our first and sixth floors are very many excellently made pieces of overstuffed furniture in temporary coverings. These rockers, chairs and davenports are well built with spring backs and seats, which give the maximum comfort possible. We offer you the privilege of selecting any velour or tapestry in our stock—goods ranging in price up to $16.50 per yard—and of having us cover with it such pieces as you desire, the cost of the labor and material being included in the price of the furniture. This is a most unusual opportunity—an opportunity, however, that is representative of our ability to serve the home makers of the Southwest.



Copies of Old Colonial Pieces

Furniture manufacturers are producing many single pieces which are copies of the furniture that, designed in England by the old craftsmen, found its way in sailing ships across the Atlantic to the Colonial homes of our forefathers. Secretaries, spinet desks, sewing cabinets, gate leg and tilt top tables, Windsor chairs, tall clocks, all may be found in variety on our floors, waiting for those who love the quaint charm of the antique. The spinet desk pictured is priced at $50.00; the Windsor chair at $24.15.

BEHIND THE COUNT.

There are over ten thousand registered prohibitionists in Los Angeles county to four hundred in San Francisco. They don't seem to have heard a whole lot about prohibition as yet in the Bay City.

HELP WANTED.

Leon Trotsky is sounding the trumpet call for volunteers. Why should the Red government ring for volunteers? Thought every Bolshevist was a Red crusader, in spite of himself. We might spare a few parlor entertainers from this country if they can get their passports.

RECIPROCITY.

The idea of making it impossible for women workers to receive less than $16 a week is fine, but there should be some way provided at the same time by which the employer is assured of getting the worth of his money. The giving and taking should be on a co-operative basis. The workers who work should get theirs by all means.

IDLE MONEY.

The Federal reserve bankers say that the country has over three billion dollars stowed away in its sock in preference to using the banks or buying Liberty Bonds. Lots of people think that money is saved only when it is buried in the cellar or hidden away where not even the Coroner can find it. Money like that might as well be burned up for all the good it does the world.

THE TEST OF INFAMY.

The demand by the Bolshevik forces that the unions of France and England restrain their governments from any interference with their destructive march on Poland shows their confidence that the tie of the Commune and the labor union would be greater than that of patriotism or the home. The test is that a man should place his own passions and the whims of his "organiser" above his wife and country.

LOST LEADERS.

Voting has already become so old a story with California women that many of them, like their husbands, no longer indulge, but in Tennessee and numbers of other States it will come as a great adventure and a notable experience. Lots of professional suffragists will now wonder what to do with themselves. The pleasures of anticipation stale quickly, but while they are going are far more electrifying than those of realization. Now some of these militant suffragettes will have to get married in order to have somebody to fight with. They have had their names in the paper every day or two through heckling some politician or harrying some statesman and may now take to picketing their own homes and husbands through force of habit. Pity the poor suffragette who it out of a job.

STOCK ON HAND.

The United States Prohibition Commissioner will ask Congress to order the destruction of the fifty million gallons of liquor still remaining in the bonded warehouses of the government. 'Tis but a little while ago that this was accounted as among the nation's most valuable property. It is still priceless. But it is urged that there can be no efficient enforcement of the prohibition law while knowledge of the existence of this stock remains. While there are still outstanding four or five gallons of whisky for every drinking man all manner of lawful and unlawful efforts will be made to get a sniff of the same. If the government could only sell this stuff at auction there would be money enough to build the navy we will have to have if we keep out of the League of Nations.

A VERY SAD AFFAIR.

Lamont (Ill.) is about to change its name to Lamest. With good reason. It took prohibition to bring Lamont down from its lofty eminence as the "cleanest town in America" to the sorrowful pass of beholding, not a few mere citizens, but the Mayor himself and eight of his chief officials languishing in the civic hoosegow on charges of violating the national liquor statutes. From meager dispatches regarding the lamentable affair it appears that the Mayor ran a saloon in the old days and that each of the accused officials operated a soft-drink emporium on the side. Milk was a favorite among the beverages dispensed under the new regime, but, according to the unfeeling investigators from Chicago, the cow that gave it must have been fed on sour instead of bran mash.

Up to the time a prohibition agent stubbed his toe on one of these unyielding soft drinks it was Lamont's proud boast that it had not had an arrest in three years. There would have been none then if arresting officers had not been imported for the purpose, for the raids left the town without an executive of any kind.

From credible witnesses for the defense it appears that the sale of beverages partook of the nature of a municipal industry, for there was no means in the treasury to pay salaries commensurate with the cost of living in Lamont.

All of which raises the question if the possession of a real and officially-attested spotless town should not be worth a subsidy to a paternal government to maintain it in the paths of rectitude after that government has made a crime out of what was formerly a means of livelihood.

We shall miss the example of Lamont.

THE NINETEENTH AMENDMENT.

THROUGH the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment equal suffrage is now guaranteed to the women of the United States as a constitutional right. The sex limitation of suffrage fixed by the original framers of the American Constitution has finally been eliminated. Equal suffrage was one of the controversial questions when the Constitution was drafted. Women voted in a number of colonies while they were still British dominions. A strong woman's party was organized in the colonies prior to the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Abigail Adams, wife of John Adams, wrote to her husband while the Continental Congress was in session in March, 1776, that "if particular care and attention are not paid to the ladies we are determined to foment a rebellion, and will not hold ourselves bound to obey any laws in which we have no voice or representation."

Women have been voting in California since 1912; and the wise use that they have made of the ballot here has been cited as an argument for equal suffrage in other States. California women have perhaps done more than those of any other American State to bring about the final ratification of the Federal equal suffrage amendment.

To Tennessee goes the honor of casting the deciding vote completing the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment; and the Democratic leaders are already trying to make campaign capital out of it. They are already proclaiming that, because Tennessee, a Democratic State, ratified the equal suffrage amendment this year, all the women of the country should vote the Democratic ticket in November. That is about as consistent as the general run of Democratic campaign arguments. Does more credit for ratification go to the State that held out to the last moment against ratification than to those States which showed their good will toward their womankind by ratifying the amendment at the earliest opportunity? While it is true that, in the Parable of the Vineyard, the laborers who arrived at the eleventh hour received equal pay with those who had toiled since sunrise—reminiscent of the old twelve-hour day—it is not of record that the late arrivals demanded all the money for gathering the vintage and denied to those who had labored all day any pay at all.

The Times does not feel that ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment should be discussed as a partisan issue; but it notices that Gov. Cox declared that ratification was a Democratic issue as soon as he was notified that the Tennessee Legislature had acted. Since the partisan issue has been raised, however, let us look at the record. Twenty-nine normally Republican States have ratified the Nineteenth Amendment. There were but two Republican States in which the women would not have voted for President in November, irrespective of action on the Federal equal suffrage amendment. Tennessee was the seventh Democratic State to ratify the equal suffrage amendment.

It was the southern Democrats who fought equal suffrage in Congress; and it was the refusal of the southern Democratic States to ratify the Nineteenth Amendment that kept the women of sixteen States from taking part last spring in the Presidential primaries. The great Republican States were the stanch friends of equal suffrage; and it was the Republican votes in Congress that gave the requisite majorities to submit the equal suffrage amendment to the States for ratification.

II.

EQUAL suffrage, according to Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's party, is but the first great step in the campaign for equal responsibility and equal power which the women of the country are waging. Her words indicate that the women are to use the ballot to wage sex campaigns and raise sex issues. She says:

> With the vote as a tool, the women can forge for themselves a place of equal responsibility and equal power with the men of the nation.

She says that the National Woman's party will decide at a convention shortly to be held "whether or not the best method to this end is through a separate woman's party." The Times, for one, hopes that the women will not so decide. To add the partisan sex issue to the partisan political issue would threaten to make a mockery of representative government. Women have been granted the suffrage in order that they might aid in purifying American politics; but, if they are to accept it in the sense of sex partisanship, they will only add to the confusion and disorder.

Women of the country as a whole will do well to take a lesson from the procedure of the women of California since they have enjoyed the right of suffrage. There has been no agitation here for a woman's party. The feminine leaders have been scrupulously careful not to raise sex issues. Where women politicians have attempted to use the right of suffrage for their personal aggrandisement they have not been able to win the support of the members of their own sex.

Taken as a whole, the influence of the women voters in California politics has been a salutary one. The campaigns have been conducted on a higher moral plane; there has been a gradual elimination of the roughneck politician; there has been more support for humanitarian lerislation. In short, there has been less greed and more morals in California politics. This has not been due so much to the fact that the women possessed the right of suffrage as to the use they made of it. They have proved a force for conservatism and have strengthened the barriers against radicalism.

III.

PERHAPS it has been well that the women of the country have won the right of Federal suffrage only after a long and arduous campaign. It was an adage of chivalry that those seeking knighthood should win their spurs before they wore them. In the campaigns which the women have organized for suffrage they have learned the rudiments of political methods. They know the influences, alike for good and for evil, that surround State and national assemblies. They have learned that issues are decided at the polling booth rather than in the legislative halls; that the way to get votes for any project is to elect to office representatives pledged to vote for it.

While the opponents of equal suffrage have not yet given up the fight, it is not likely that their appeal to the courts will alter the verdict of the State legislatures. There is a clause in the Constitution of the State of Tennessee which, read without relation to the rest of the Constitution, would enjoin the present Legislature of that State from acting on the ratification resolution. That section stipulates that amendments to the Federal Constitution can only be ratified by a legislative assembly election after the amendment has been submitted to the State. The present Tennessee Legislature was elected before the Nineteenth Amendment was submitted by Congress for ratification.

However, the decision of the Federal Supreme Court in the Ohio referendum case provides a precedent for evading that section of the Tennessee State Constitution. It is manifestly unfair that the women of sixteen States should be deprived of the privilege of voting for President this year because of a clause in the Tennessee Constitution which was enacted during the dark days of reconstruction following the Civil War. Since women have the privilege of equal suffrage, a woman's reason should carry equal weight with that of a man; and a woman would reason that to disfranchise the women of sixteen States on account of a dead letter section of a Constitution of one State isn't right, because it's wrong. The Supreme courts of Tennessee and of the United States are not likely to be ungallant enough to reach any other conclusion.

IV.

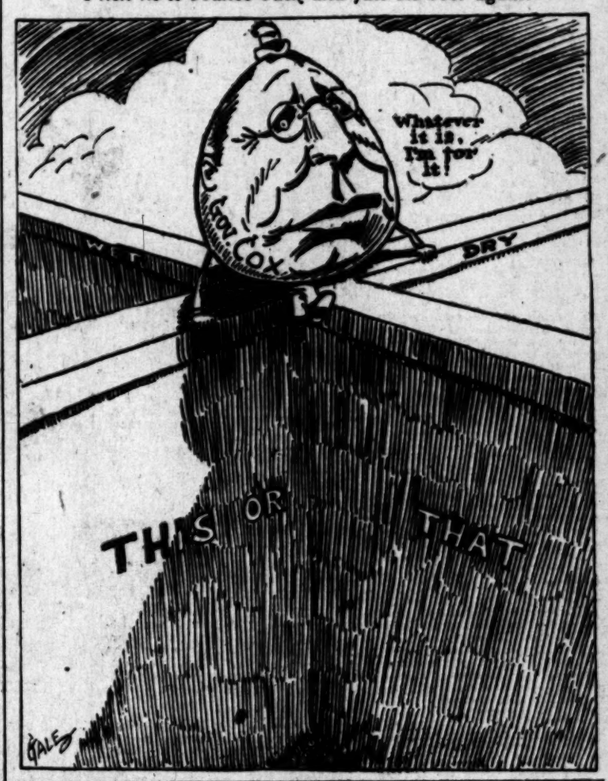
BY REASON of the prevalence of equal suffrage in most of the States, national suffrage is not an experiment. Most of the fears of those who honestly opposed woman suffrage have been allayed by the wise use the women have made of the privilege. It has been only by constant battering that the wall of prejudice has been beaten down. How quaint now appear the following lines, written against the equal suffrage and equal rights movement in Great Britain by the great moralist and art critic, John Ruskin, in 1871:

> This, then, is the end of your universal education and civilization, and contempt of the ignorance of the Middle Ages and their chivalry. Not only do you declare yourselves too indolent to labor for daughters and wives, and too poor to support them; but you have made the distracted creatures hold it an honor to be independent of you and shriek for some hold of the mattock themselves. Believe it or not, as you may, there has not been so low a level of thought reached by any race since they grew to be male or female out of starfish, or chickweed, or whatever else they may have been made from, by natural selection—according to modern science.

Ruskin's sincerity is above suspicion. But, if he were living in California at the present time, he would very likely concede that his sincerity, like that of millions of others, was no protection against error.

Humpty Dumpty Sits on the Wall,

Humpty Dumpty is ready to fall,
For what'll get votes from the women,
Or will catch the votes of the men—
Then he'll bounce back and fall all over again!



THREE-CORNERED CO-OPERATION.

As The Times has frequently pointed out in the past, advances in railway freight and passenger rates and wages to be paid to rail workers are not matters involving merely the railway owners and the employees. The third party at interest is the public, which foots the bill for the rises granted and which, not without some justice, is inclined to feel that it has received the least consideration of the three.

Since the passage of the Adamson bill four years ago the scale of wages paid railway employees has advanced more than 100 per cent; freight and passenger rates have advanced about 60 per cent and the cost to the consumer of the commodities carried by the railways has gone up anywhere from 50 to 500 per cent.

That there is an essential relation between the rise in prices and the rise in rates and wages on the railways is too obvious to require comment. The apparent conclusion, however, that, because of the latest advances granted railway owners and railway employees, there will necessarily be a further rise in the cost of living or that it will nullify other factors making for lower prices is not necessarily correct. If the real purposes for which these advances were made are realized the opposite should come to pass.

Freight tie-ups are more expensive than higher freight rates. A lack of cars to move their products is more costly to manufacturers, growers and shippers than taking from their pockets their share of the means to enable the roads to supply more cars. There is no disposition on the part of the public or the shippers to quarrel with fair wages for railway men or with rate advances granted to make such wages possible. So long as it must ultimately pay the bill, however, the public has a right to ask for its share in the benefits. These benefits, from the public's standpoint, will lie in better and quicker freight and passenger service by the railways—a restoration to the normal of efficiency in transportation, the life-blood of modern industry.

It is to be remembered, however, that in the relations of the railways and the shippers it takes two to make a team. The roads cannot do it all. In the restoration of normal transportation service and the elimination of the country-wide congestion in freight handling the shippers have a duty to perform as important as that of the railways themselves. Added rolling stock and added facilities for expeditiously moving freight will be of small avail if sidings everywhere remain clogged with freight cars waiting for consignees to unload them or with empties waiting for a shipper to get ready to load his products aboard. Even with the advances made in demurrage rates a shipper frequently finds it more convenient to himself to let his freight cars lie over a day or so and pay the delay fee than to put on day-and-night gangs, get the loading or the unloading done and get the rolling stock on its way again. In the meantime, however, these needlessly-delayed cars act as the key-log of a river jam, piling up confusion and disorganization out of all proportion to their intrinsic importance.

It is through such co-operation of railway owners, railway workers and railway users that order will come out of chaos and the confusion which in itself has been one of the big reasons for high prices will be done away with. It is a co-operation to which all parties may subscribe with the certainty that they are best serving their own interests as well as those of the country at large. And the public in general, which pays the bills, will find the fruits of that co-operation reflected in a lowered cost of the necessities of life.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE EARTHQUAKE.

The other evening, while I wandered beside a Cheap John inland lake and on Dame Nature's beauties pondered, the earth reared up and threw a quake. One moment everything was quiet, no leaves were trembling on the trees; the next there was the blamedest riot and I was jolted to my knees. Insanely things began to frolic, and mountains waltsed and buildings, too; for when this planet has the colic the strangest marvels come in view. I thought, "It is the resurrection! Gabe must have blown his trumpet notes and my renown's of such complexion I fear I'll line up with the goats. I wish I hadn't lied and cheated when I swapped horses in my youth, and dished up fiction, superheated, when people simply yearned for truth. I wish that I had gone to churches when Sabbath bells admonished me, and heard the pastors from their perches hand out the truth that makes men free. And I regret, oh, like the dickens do I regret the times now gone, when I went out and gathered chickens between the sunset and the dawn." Thus my dark record rose before me and showed no gold, but heaps of dross; dark recollections came to bore me and made me feel a total loss. But presently earth ceased its quaking, my feet grew warmer in a trice, and I remarked, "It's time for taking a nice cold bottle from the ice."

DROLL STORIES.

He Could Be Trusted.

A man got in a cab at the Richmond railway station and said:

"Drive me to a haberdasher's."

"Yaas, suh," said the driver, as he whipped up his horse and drove a block; then, leaning over to address his passenger, said:

"'Scuse me, boss, but whar d'yu say you wanter go?"

"To a haberdasher's."

"Yaas, suh; yaas, suh!"

After another block there was the same performance.

"'Scuse me, boss, but whar d'yu say yu wanter go?"

"To a haberdasher's," was the somewhat impatient reply.

Then came the final appeal.

"Now, look a-here, boss, I be'n drivin' in dis town twenty years and I ain't never giv' nobody away yit. Now you jes' tell dis niggar whar 't is you wanter go."—[Minnesota Foolscap.

Lost His Pet.

At a mess dinner the conversation turned on animal training.

"Ah," said Maj. Binks, "I remember when I was at Boggleywalah I tamed an oyster. He used to follow me all over the house like a dog. He would sit on the table at my side with his shell open and crack my nuts—most affectionate little creature."

"Have you still got him, major?" asked the doubting auditor.

"No, sir, he came to an untimely end. A friend of mine came into the dining-room in my absence, saw the oyster with his shell open and swallowed him! I shall never have another pet," said the major, with a sigh.

"No doubt your friend found it easier to swallow the oyster," said the colonel, "than we do the story."—[Tit-Bits.

"Yes, ma'am," his answer was again prompt. "They'll get chiggers on them."—[Indianapolis News.

MOSS GATHERED BY A ROLLING STONE.

BY TOM FITCH.

When Sam Clemens, as we used to call him in Virginia City, fifty-seven years ago, or Mark Twain, as he was afterwards known to the English-reading world, ascended to his palace among the stars the angels laughed their welcome to him. No stormy trump and drum sounded a warrior's march at his coming, and no dirge, in minor chords of sorrow, wailed to greet him. But all heaven resounded to the music of "Hail to the Chief," and some of the younger harpists struck up "Johnny Comes Marching Home."

Mark Twain was—according to his brographer, Mr. Paine—at the outset of the Civil War, temporarily in the Confederate service. This statement is erroneous. Mark lived at that time in Hannibal, Mo. He was a lieutenant in a volunteer military company which was a part of the Missouri Home Guards and subject to the orders of the Governor of Missouri.

The Governor of Missouri was a rebel and the Lieutenant-Governor was a Unionist. The Governor issued an order directing that the Home Guard be sworn into the Confederate service and that it report for duty to the rebel general, Price, in Southwest Missouri.

Before this order reached Hannibal the Governor found it convenient, on account of the near approach of a Federal force, to flee from the State Capitol to a point within the Confederate lines. The Lieutenant-Governor, acting as Governor, issued an order to the Missouri Home Guard rescinding the order of the fleeing Governor and ordering the members of the Home Guard to report for duty to the commander of the Federal forces at St. Louis.

The fleeing Governor, being advised of this, attempted, notwithstanding his absence from the State Capitol, to exercise executive powers, and he sent to Hannibal another order reiterating his first order that the Home Guards be mustered into the Confederate service.

The three orders reached Hannibal within a day or two of each other and were all made public.

Lieut. Sam Clemens thereupon wrote a note to the colonel of his regiment, saying: "Sir, I resign my membership of and my commission as lieutenant in the Hannibal Home Guards. I am willing to fight for either the United States, or the Southern Confederacy, but this damned uncertainty as to which side I am on is killing me with anxiety."

Mark later said: "I was troubled in my conscience a little at first, for I had enlisted and was not clear as to my right to disenlist. But I remembered that one of the conditions of joining the Home Guards was that its members should not be required to leave their home towns, except in case of the invasion of the State by an enemy.

"The Confederate forces had invaded Southwest Missouri. In accordance with the terms of my enlistment I was entitled to leave Hannibal, and I left at once on the overland stage for Nevada, of which territory my brother, Orion Clemens, had been appointed secretary."

Mark Twain made his first appearance as a public speaker in a mining camp. "There is," said he, "great propriety in my selection as orator of the day, for I was sired by revolutionary ancestors and born of a continental dam."

The humor of Mark Twain was a kindly humor. Pericles said: "I thank the gods that I never caused an Athenian to put on mourning." Mark Twain could have truthfully said: "I have never written a line that inflicted unjust suffering upon a human being." Even on those rare occasions when the keen blade of his wit was turned against a wrong-doer he left—as does the pearl-maker of the Orient who forces a grain of irritating sand between the shells of an oyster—the germ of a pearl in the wound.

Mark Twain's humor was a natural humor. It was never forced or strained. It oozed from every pore of him. It bubbled up like the waters of a clear, laughing spring. It was original. He was never guilty of plagiarism; not even of that subtle plagiarism which consists of stealing ideas and robing them in other language. I knew a renowned orator whose utterances bore the brand of Addison or Gibbon or Macaulay—whichever author he happened to have been reading the night before. If Mark Twain used the unclothed or half-clothed thoughts of another he gave that other credit for it and never offered the paltry excuse of "unconscious cerebration." His was not the satirical wit of the Frenchman. It was the kindly humor of the Irishman.

Some of Mark's brightest sayings were unrecorded, for they were spontaneous utterances when no reporter was present.

At a banquet, when the speech-making began before the service of the menu had been completed, Mark arose to respond to a toast just as the waiter placed a dish of some dainty before him. "I must say," said Mark, "with Martin Luther at Wittenberg, 'God help me, I can take no other course.'"

At an excavation in an old cement formation at some mineral springs near Carson in Nevada there were found fossil imprints, which a local scientist said were the footprints of a primeval ass. "That's a mistake," said Mark. "Those footprints were made by Uncle Abe Curry when he was walking around there superintending the erection of the bath-houses."

A political speaker, whose utterances were sometimes ungrammatical, was enraged by a burlesque report of his speech made by Mark. "Sam Clemens," said the angry man, "is nothing but an educated blackguard." "That," remarked Mark, "is the difference between us."

Mark never failed to pat the head of a friendly dog or the aching back of a cat. "I love the dog," said he, "I love the cat. I love everything that is beastly."

It is among my most cherished recollections that in Virginia City Mark and I were close friends and companions, eating at the same table and sleeping under the same roof.

...to the nephew, he and his uncle left Los Angeles several days ago to ride to Miami, Ariz., on a motorcycle. The uncle had lost both hands and an eye in a mine explosion in Miami, but had recovered sufficiently to adeptly use two steel hooks instead of hands and could thereby operate the motorcycle, to which a sidecar was attached. About ten miles from Agua Caliente the vehicle struck a boulder and its throttle was broken. The boy and his uncle pushed it under a tree. The handless uncle tried to direct the lad how to repair the throttle, but no progress was made and he sent the boy to Agua Caliente for help.

The exertion of pushing the motorcycle across the sand under the hot sun, caused the uncle to faint before his nephew left him. The lad made him as comfortable as possible, placed a canteen partly filled with water beside him and set out on his journey in search of succor.

SEVERAL REFUSE AID.

After vainly pleading with a number of men in the little town to go to his uncle's rescue, little Michael finally found a Good Samaritan, who accompanied him to the spot where the uncle had swooned. They found a coat and shirt and an empty canteen, but the uncle had disappeared. Darkness overtook the searchers and they returned to Agua Caliente.

The following morning the search was resumed and after covering an area of several miles around the tree where the motorcycle stood, Michael and his friend found the body of Mr. Sunar in a slight depression in the desert. He had undoubtedly perished while staggering through the sand in search of water.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from heat exhaustion and the body was buried in the desert without ceremony.

ROB SQUIRRELS' WINTER STORES.

Men Steal Nuts Hidden Away in Long Beach Park; Are Ordered from City.

The two "meanest men" were definitely located yesterday afternoon in Lincoln Park at Long Beach.

They sat around in the park, watched industrious squirrels bury nuts in their winter food store-house, and then when the bushy-tailed rodents scampered away to find more food, the men dug up the nuts and ate them.

Park officials at Long Beach were notified of what was going on, and the men were ordered to leave the city at once.

CINEMA SUIT HEARD.

Large Sum Involved in Action Demanding an Accounting

An accounting suit between William S. Hart and Thomas H. Ince, cinema magnates, growing out of a contract to produce cinema pictures in which Mr. Hart starred, is being heard by Judge Works. Mr. Hart sued Mr. Ince for $100,000, representing, according to the complaint, one-half of the profits from pictures.

Mr. Hart received $630,000 and Mr. Ince $230,000 under this agreement, the distributors being the Artcraft Company of New York. Mr. Hart alleges that there are $500,000 on hand and $250,000 to be received, and demands his interest in this sum. Mr. Ince disputes his claim. Yesterday Ben F. McLouth, expert, who went over the books, was examined by Attorneys Wetherhorn and Scarborough, representing Mr. Hart. Mr. Ince's counsel are Hunsaker, Britt and Edwards and Ingle Carpenter.

DISCOVERS CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

Chicago Specialist Says Greatest Percentage of Baldness Due to Alopecia Pityrodes

Prof. John H. Austin, over 40 years a bacteriologist, hair and scalp specialist, who now has offices at Hamburger's, says this scalp disorder is often mistaken for common "dandruff."

Alopecia pityrodes starts with a scaling of the scalp, sometimes slight, commonly called "dandruff," sometimes abundant — producing thick, grayish-white, dry or greasy scales—which leads to falling of the hair. This stage lasts from two to seven years, as a rule. At first, when the hair starts to fall, it is hardly noticeable, but as this ailment, "Alopecia Pityrodes," becomes more deeply seated, and the microbacilli multiply, as they always do, the falling of the hair increases rapidly and in time the top of the head becomes entirely bald.

Prof. Austin has found that only the most powerful microscope can determine the exact trouble with which the hair and scalp are afflicted, and has proved that the use of mange cures, dandruff cures, hair tonics, vaseline and elixirs is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.

POLITICS.

THE WATCHMAN.

TREND OF POLITICAL THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

Heavy verbal artillery from the political camps of Samuel M. Shortridge and A. J. Wallace will din in our ears for the next few days, it being the program of these rival candidates for the Republican nomination for United States Senator to conclude their battle in the south. Mr. Wallace is already in the field and Mr. Shortridge is due today. Both candidates, of course, realize that their speed in reaching the goal depends largely upon how impressively they get over their messages to the Southern California electorate. Neither concedes a ray of hope to the other.

Mr. Shortridge, after a series of talks in and around Los Angeles, will go to San Diego, where he has the backing, I am told, of two local newspapers, and an energetic campaign committee. Mr. Wallace, already in that sector of the battlefield, yesterday unbosomed himself to the local Rotary Club on the subject of arid land reclamation, and on Monday Mr. Shortridge will give the same folk their final close-up. While here, I am told, Mr. Shortridge intends to express himself definitely and strongly as to his intentions with regard to ample representation of the south and its needs in the Senate, should the State honor him with the toga. A word on this subject just now undoubtedly will increase his popularity.

Councilman Ralph Criswell, who is tilting with Charles F. Van de Water and James W. Reagan for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Ninth District, intends to jazz up his campaign with a few flights through the airplanes. He told me yesterday that he has invited his two rivals to enter the fuselage of an all-steel airship as his special guests, make flights to various towns in the district, and there hold joint meetings. He proposes to hold these meetings in Long Beach, Pomona, Covina and Pasadena.

Judge Dana R. Weller's campaign for the Appellate Court is receiving plenty of encouragement throughout the county, according to local friends, who want to see him a fixture on the bench. It comes to me, too, that the judge's many friends among the Union Leaguers are covering lots of ground in his behalf. He is president of the Union League Club and one of its most popular candidates.

It came to me yesterday from Redlands that Charles Brown, well known among citrus men in that district, will probably be made chairman of the Cox-Roosevelt campaign in Southern California. Ray Groves, secretary of the local Democratic organization, I am told, has slipped the word to the Bourbon leaders in this section that Brown will be in the saddle.

The Woman's Republican Club of the Sixty-fourth Assembly District has put its O.K. on the following ticket: Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican nomination for United States Senator; Henry M. Hurd, State Senator from the Thirty-seventh District; Harry Lyons, State Assembly from the Sixty-fourth District, and these candidates for the Republican County Central Committee: Robson O. Bell, Augusta L. Donovan, Collins M. Gair, Leon M. Glasband, Clarence W. Horn, Edgar P. Jochimsen, Mrs. Martha E. Moore, John A. Myers and Henrietta F. Terrell.

Andy Francisco, the veteran of many a political scrap, has taken under his expert wing the candidacy of Leonard C. Hall for the Assembly from the Sixty-fourth District.

Minor Moore seems to be making a good race for the Superior bench. His friends have just organized a Moore-for-Judge Club to handle his candidacy. Richard Dunnigan is at the wheel.

C. L. Welch, a former Los Angeles school principal, who is after the Assembly seat from the Sixty-third District, promises to school our legislators in the art of taxation, if sent to Sacramento. Welch has tackled a sizable job in breaking lances with Assemblyman Sid Graves, who is backed for the return voyage by the Association for the Betterment of Public Service.

was placed in an army ambulance and started back to Arcadia, where preparations for him were made at the hospital.

The grounding of the line did not seriously interfere with the transmission of power from the Southern California Edison Company's hydro-electrical plants on the Kern River to this city, according to the company's officials. The section of the line from Lancaster to Elizabeth Lake is one of a network of similar lines, it was explained, and the energy generated at the power houses can be carried on parallel and connecting lines without great trouble.

As soon as the news of the cause of the short on the high power line was learned here, officials of the Edison company ordered every available man to the scene of trouble, with instructions to assist the flyer and fight the flames before anything else was done. Information from the scene of the accident was delayed at first by the burning out of the high-line private telephone system of the Edison company, which is carried on the power line.

front and the warehouses will be unable to handle all the business.

Maynard McFie, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who had charge of the speaking program, asserted that the gathering was the first of its kind ever held in Southern California, the first in which many communities, towns and cities had joined to co-operate in the matter of harbor development.

MUST PLAN FOR FUTURE.

"We must now all preach the gospel of the importance of the port to all Southern California interests," said Mr. McFie. "We must emphasize the necessity for vision at this time, for the growth of the port will be astonishingly rapid. We must build and plan for the future.

"Southern California has completed three distinct epochs of development, and is just entering upon a fourth. First came the era of grazing and stock raising; this was followed by the era of agricultural development, and then in turn came the manufacturing period. We are now entering upon the period of foreign trade development which will round out our industrial growth."

John D. Fredericks, who spoke on "The Coming of Co-operation in Development of the Port," paid special tribute to the men and influences which began to fight for the development of the harbor a quarter century ago.

"Stephen M. White, as a private citizen and as a United States Senator, was untiring in his work for the port," said Mr. Fredericks. "Another man who worked tirelessly for the harbor was the late Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, a man of exceptional vision and force. And then there has always been The Times; from the first it has been a tireless and powerful publicity worker for the project which will make Los Angeles one of the great foreign trade centers of the country. The Chamber of Commerce, too, has been a militant body, and has been in the forefront of the fight for harbor development for the last twenty-five years—a record which is being maintained today under the direction of the present secretary, Frank Wiggins.

HARBOR OF SOUTHLAND.

"In the main, Los Angeles has fought the good fight alone and unaided. Now the harbor and its importance have become so great that it is too large for Los Angeles alone. It is no longer just Los Angeles' harbor, but has become the harbor of all of Southern California, and as such must have the interest and the support of all of the Southland."

Others at the conference who spoke informally, and without having been assigned set topics, were R. H. Ballard, vice-president of the Southern California Edison Company; E. D. Seward, president of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce; Fred L. Baker, president of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company; H. M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles; George B. Carpenter, president of the World Traders, and Mayor Lisenby of Long Beach.

Before the formal program was begun the Pasadena Community Players entertained the guests with a bright playlet entitled "Food."

French Mechanic Arrested Here for Transporting Woman.

An attachment formed by E. A. Gruel, a French mining mechanic, while at Mazatlan, led to his arrest and arraignment yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Long on a charge of bringing a woman into this country for immoral purposes. Gruel was arrested by Immigration inspector Jack and was lodged in the County Jail.

It is charged the defendant became enamored of the wife of a fellow-worker at Mazatlan and after returning to this country sent Mme. Marie Gouley money to come to Los Angeles. He was employed here by an oil company. The woman is held at the Home of the Good Shepherd as a material witness. She came here in June. Gruel's hearing was set for the 28th inst.

MRS. LUCY DOUCETTE, of Manchester, N. H., who says she's just so happy over the way Tanlac restored her health she can't keep from telling people about it.

"I am just so happy over the way Tanlac has restored my health that I can't keep from telling people about it," said Mrs. Lucy Doucette, of 76 Stark street, Manchester, New Hampshire, a few days ago. "I suffered so long with chropic indigestion that I didn't know what it was to sit down and enjoy a single meal. My stomach was so badly disordered I had to live on the strictest diet, and nothing seemed to agree with me. At times my breath seemed to be cut off and I would suffer terribly for hours at a time.

"I lost my strength completely and became so weak and run-down I would give out several times during the day and would have to stop and rest. I was extremely nervous and irritable, and just felt like I would break down completely.

"One day I saw a statement from a friend of mine who said Tanlac had helped her wonderfully, so I was convinced it was a dependable medicine and I began taking it immediately, and I am more than pleased at the splendid results. My appetite improved right from the first, and the horrible indigestion from which I suffered so long has entirely disappeared.

"I have now finished my fourth bottle, and can eat just anything I wish without any bad after-effects. I also sleep better and have more strength and energy. It is a pleasure to tell others what Tanlac has done in my case."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by Owl Drug Stores, and by Irwin's Drug Store, Redondo Beach.

PASADENA MAN ENDS IT ALL.

R. M. Remy Fires Bullet Into His Brain.

Southern California Druggists Hold Picnic.

William Wrigley Returns East After Short Visit.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Aug. 19.—R. M. Remy, 55 years old, a retired business man, shot and killed himself at 10:30 o'clock this morning. He had been despondent for some time past. Hearing a shot in the bathroom Mrs. Remy opened the door and found her husband's dead body. While seated in a chair he fired a bullet from a large caliber revolver into his forehead.

Mr. Remy formerly was proprietor of the Pasadena Produce Company on East Walnut street. Besides the widow, he is survived by four sons and a daughter, M. B. Remy, W. J. Remy, T. E. Remy, R. E. Remy and Miss Ellen Remy, all of whom live at the family residence, 608 North Los Robles avenue. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

DRUGGISTS FROLIC.

The Southern California Druggists' Association held a picnic at Brookside Park yesterday afternoon. About 200 people were in attendance. There was a program of sports. The Pasadena team won a victory in the baseball game with Los Angeles druggists. Among the prize winners were: Mrs. William Warke, egg race; Mrs. S. P. Brooks, ball throwing contest; G. C. Mallory, 100-yard dash for man; K. L. Karven, sack race; C. M. Ziegler, fat men's race, and Sylvester Brooks and Thomas Mysterly, three-legged race.

WRIGLEY GOES EAST.

William Wrigley, Jr., left this morning for Chicago, saying that he would be back in Pasadena early in December. On the visit just concluded he spent only one night at his beautiful South Orange Grove-avenue home, the remainder of the time being put in at Catalina Island. He asserts that while he is having a house built at the island he intends to maintain his winter residence in Pasadena.

Between now and the November election Mr. Wrigley expects to devote much time to the advancement of Senator Harding's candidacy for the Presidency. He does not believe even the party leaders realized how good a man had been selected when the Senator received the nomination.

"I spent an evening with him in Marion two weeks ago," said Mr. Wrigley, "and found him one of the wisest, strongest men I have ever met. If California does not go Republican this year it ought to be ashamed of itself."

HELD FOR LARCENY.

When Abraham Gross took a suit case from an interurban car "by mistake" several days ago and carried it to his room in the Y.M.C.A. building he did not know it belonged to F. M. Veale, assistant secretary at the Y.M.C.A. Mr. Veale recognized the suit case and told the police about it. Search of Gross' room revealed about $200 worth of bathing suits, golf clubs, tennis rackets, shoes, revolvers and other things believed to have been stolen from the sporting goods store of Cline & Cline, where Gross was employed. Gross, who says he is a Russian by birth, declares he is only 19 years old, but the police think he is at least 23. He is being held at the City Jail, awaiting arraignment on a larceny charge.

FLAMES THREATEN REDLANDS MANSION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 19.—The old Theodore Clarke home, one of the most beautifully interior finished homes in Southern California, was saved from being destroyed by flames yesterday, only by a strong wind that kept the grass and brush fire that burned the fine big palm trees in front of the house, away from the building.

A dozen of the oldest palm trees in Redlands were damaged and probably four of them killed. They caught fire from a small brush fire that spread unexpectedly through the dry grass. The trees were more than twenty-five years old.

The Clarke house is finished with wainscoting in solid mahogany downstairs. Upstairs there is one room, walls and ceiling in solid birds eye maple.

The members also propose to co-operate with this country in preventing the illegal entry of Japanese.

Officials Open Line During Meet of American Legion.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 19.—Word was received today from the State Department in Washington by the American Legion that the California-Mexico line will be open to Legion members and their friends during the convention in San Diego on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This will permit the delegates to visit Tia Juana in Old Mexico.

Since the revolution has been in progress in Lower California the line between San Diego and the Mexican city has been closed. Recently the Legion decided on San Diego for its convention because of the amusements offered in the near-by points. Then the revolution took place and the border was closed and Senator Phelan was appealed to. He wired the State Department and yesterday word was received that the line will be open until 10 o'clock Monday night and until midnight on Tuesday and Wednesday.

CHARGE BOOTLEGGING.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 19.—M. Mora, charged by the police with selling intoxicating liquor in violation of the Federal prohibition law, has been taken to Los Angeles by a deputy United States marshal. The accused is claimed, sold a pint of whisky for $5. The officers charge that he had a regular runner, who found patrons in two of the poolrooms of Santa Barbara. Mora denies the charge against him. The Federal officers have served notice here that hereafter no leniency is to be shown violators of the liquor laws by the Federal courts. Until now local prisoners taken before the United States courts have been dismissed on paying small fines, and the Federal authorities claim this leniency has tended to increase blindpigging and moonshining in this section.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 19.—Dr. O. Bell, San Diego dentist, will be forced to serve a ten-day term in the Orange County Jail for speeding. He is at liberty temporarily, on bail granted him in order to take care of pressing business affairs.

Bell was arrested on the State highway south of Santa Ana, going fifty-four miles an hour. He pleaded guilty before Justice J. B. Cox today.

Bell was in jail a few hours, then secured bondsmen pending an appeal, and said that as soon as his affairs were in shape, he would drop the appeal and return to complete the term. The case of G. C. Hanish, Covina rancher, also arrested for speeding over fifty miles an hour and due for a jail term, was continued to August 25.

P. J. Ryan of Loughlin Lyceum, New York, won the hammer throw, G. Lind of Sweden was second, and E. Bennett of Chicago Athletic Club, third. M. J. McGrath, New York Athletic Club, was fifth, by reason of his throw in the qualifying round. He did not compete today because of a bad knee.

AMERICANS THERE.

In the qualifying events today, the Americans made a good showing. Paddock, Los Angeles; Kirksey, San Francisco; Murchison, New York Athletic Club, and Woodring, Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, gaining places in the 200 meter semi-finals, while the quarter milers, Shea, United States Navy; Meredith, New York Athletic Club, and Schiller, Los Angeles Athletic Club, and Emory, Chicago Athletic Association, won places in the quarter finals. Shea won from Rudd, South African star.

The American pole vaulters likewise came through their elimination trials without difficulty, but in the top step and jump the American could win only two places out of four men competing. D. F. Ahearn, holder of the record in this competition, finished sixth and just managed to qualify.

The American long distance runners failed in the 10,000 meters run, only one, Fred W. Faller, of the Dorchester Club, qualifying. Competition in the boxing events, to have begun tomorrow, has been postponed until Saturday.

TOMMY MILTON PUTS OVER VERY FAST LAP.

ELGIN (Ill.) Aug. 19.—Tommy Milton, winner of last year's Elgin road race classic, came within six seconds of the lap record today in the second day of practice for Saturday's 250-mile race.

On his fourth timed lap he made the eight and one-quarter miles in six minutes nineteen seconds. His slowest time was 6:26 1-5 and other trials were timed at 6:22 and 6:20 1-5. The late Spencer Wishart set the record with 6:13 in the race in which he was killed in 1914.

CHAPMAN'S DEATH WILL HURT INDIANS.

CLEVELAND IS UP AGAINST IT; NEW YORK YANKEES ALSO AFFECTED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The death of Ray Chapman, famous Cleveland shortstop, will affect the American League pennant race in many ways, veteran major leaguers contend.

Right now the biggest issue is centered on the three clubs that fought toe-to-toe for the season's honors up until the fatal moment Chapman stepped into Carl Mays's underhand fast ball.

Tris Speaker has no solution for his staggering Indians. The club that drove to the top of the league and held a marginal lead in the face of the strongest competition the junior wheel has experienced in years is today, practically speaking, a wreck and apparently out of the race.

The New York Yankees will suffer from the psychological effects of Chapman's death, experts maintain. Mays will probably be useless to Huggins for the remainder of the season and may never hurl another major league game. The big underhand heaver was just beginning to round into form and he was needed badly for Huggins's shaky gunning corps.

It might be safe to hazard the Yankee heavers will be aiming them over for the rest of the season. It's certain the first ball pitched close to a batter will bring back flashes of the Chapman accident. The club will undoubtedly suffer from an attack of nerves and could hardly be criticised after what has happened.

FOUR DAYS FOR ANNUAL CITY TENNIS MEETING.

Four days have been designated by President Nat Browne of the Southern California Tennis Association for the playing of the annual city tournament on the Exposition Park courts. The dates are September 2, 3, 4 and 5.

At first it was planned to run the meeting off in a coupte of days, but so many players signified their intention of competing that the tournament committee decided to make it a regular affair, and added a brace of days.

Indications are that the largest entry list of the season will be in evidence. All the old guard with a sprinkling of the newer lights have promised to be on hand.

CHOCOLATE DROPS THE CANDY KIDS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Aug. 19.—The Chocolate Drops continued their victorious march toward final victory in the Mercantile Playground Baseball League last night by beating the First Nationals, 21 to 4. It was one of the poorest games of the season. Thornquest and Burris took turns at trying to stop the hard-hitting Chocolate Drops. Dye pitched a no-hit game for the Chocolate Drops up to the seventh frame.

SOCCER INVADERS PLAY TIE GAME.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 19.—The St. Louis football team played a tie game against the combined Stockholm team today. This was the last match the Americans will play here before going on a provincial tour.

CARPENTIER TO BOX LEVINSKY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The International Sporting Club today announced the signing of a contract for a fifteen-round decision bout between Georges Carpentier, European champion, and Battling Levinsky, world's light heavyweight champion, to be held at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, October 12.

The agreement, which was concluded secretly several days ago, was signed by Jack Curley, boxing promoter, acting for Francois Descamps, manager for Carpentier, and Dan Morgan, acting for Levinsky. Details will be announced later.

Officials of the International Sporting Club said today they were offering the Carpenter-Levinsky fight in preference to a proposed meeting between Jack Dempsey and "Knockout" Bill Brennan.

English Experts Win a Match in the Afternoon.

BY HARRY VARDON.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DAYTON (O.) Aug. 19.—Affairs have reached a fine state when our manager, the man who has charge of our tour over the country, gets out his clubs and with the assistance of Ed Dillon, beats us in an exhibition match. That is just what W. C. Sherwood did this morning over the course of the Miami Valley Golf Club here, and he did it by brilliant playing, and the able support of Ed Dillon, the club professional. This was an eighteen-hole match, and Ted Ray and I were 1 down, giving up to defeat, only after the last hole hau been played. In the afternoon, we were more fortunate, and won from Joe Nicoll, professional at the Dayton Country Club, and George Sargent, by 3 to 1. This match was played on the Nalyor Club's links.

If Mr. Sherwood continues his brilliant play in the matches, that are yet to be, it is not unlikely that Ted Ray and I shall cease to be the chief attraction at our own exhibitions. Although he had not until yesterday played for about three weeks, his was the only really worth while golf that was played in the morning match, and his score was 76. With better luck on the first, seventh and twelfth holes, he might have turned in a par score. I was next in the order of low scorers, with a 78, so poor a score because my putting was equally so. Ted Ray had a 79, and Dillon, playing on his own course, could do no better than 81. He had a good share in the doing us down, however, for when Sherwood was faltering, he was at his best.

PUTTS POORLY.

George Sargent, the Columbus professional, who has been with us for the last three days, bore the burden of our opponents in the afternoon match. Joe Nicoll was not his usual steady self, being as far off in putting as I was, and that detail is as a general thing the best part of Nicoll's game.

Ray and I were talking this noon about the difficulties that professionals have had in playing on their home course against us. It would seem that a golfer who plays every day over his course and knows every little feature of the terrain would be able to play very well there, but we have found without more than two exceptions that the first match a local professional plays against us finds him a deal below his normal form. I suppose it is nervousness, not because they are opposed to Ted Ray and myself, as we do not flatter ourselves by offering any such argument, but because as a rule the home player is before a larger gallery than he is accustomed to play before, and because that gallery is composed of his own people, who are hoping for and expecting great things of him.

CAN'T SINK 'EM.

Both Ray and I played better in the afternoon than we did in the first match, but still I was greatly annoyed by my own sad efforts at putting. It seemed that the easier they lay for me, the more difficulty I found in sinking them. I played better this afternoon, I suppose, because it requires a deal of play for me to get properly set for the day. I generally do play better golf in the afternoon after a morning's hard round. Then Ray could not play quite so well on the Miami course as he did on the other because the fairways of the former are somewhat sun-baked. Ray has a slight tendency to slice or hook occasionally, and a pulled tee shot lighting on an unyielding fair-green will surely twist itself into the rough. That was his difficulty this morning, while this afternoon he had a better chance, for the older Dayton club course is softer.

Sargent was in good form and kept us wondering what our success would be until we lay dormy at the seventeenth hole. He started out by holing a fifteen-foot putt on the first green, and continued his sparkling work for the remainder of the afternoon.

Bat Levinsky, the Fatted Calf.

This is the genial party who is scheduled to be annihilated by Georges Carpentier on the occasion of the latter's first public appearance as a boxer in America. Those who have seen Levinsky battle lately say that unless Carpentier is every bit as good as he was before the war he'll never get much fun out of his fifteen-round contest with the Battler.

HUTCHINSON BEATS TELLIER

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Jock Hutchinson of Chicago, Harry Hampton of Richmond, Va., George McLean of Great Neck, N. Y., and J. Douglas Edgar of Atlanta, Ga., today won their way into the semifinals of the championship play of the Professional Golfers' Association.

Hutchinson defeated Louis Tellier of Boston, six and five in the third round and tomorrow will play Hampton, who today downed Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City, 4 and 3. The other semifinal match will be between McLean and Edgar. McLean at one time seemed hopelessly beaten, but he came back in the second round and defeated Peter O'Hara of New York, in thirty-eight holes.

Edgar bested Bob MacDonald of Chicago, 5 and 4. Edgar, who won the Canadian open last year, with the lowest score on record for seventy-two holes, played unbeatable golf. On the first eighteen holes each had medal scores of 71, three under par, but MacDonald finished one down. Edgar's putting was spectacular in the afternoon first nine, making it in 32, four under par.

McLean came back strong after he was five down to O'Hara at the end of the twenty-fifth hole. He evened the count at the home green by playing the last nine in a record 33 or five under par.

Hutchinson this morning played the first nine holes in 35, one under par, and returned in 36, two under, perfect figures for a 71, or three under par. Tellier was not far behind with 36-37-73, but was three down. After lunch Tellier dropped three more holes.

BURY RAY CHAPMAN TODAY.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—Final arrangements for the funeral of Ray Chapman, star baseball player, were completed today. Because of the many requests for seats in the church, it was decided to hold the services in St. John's Cathedral. Chapman will be buried here, the services to be private.

Tomorrow morning's funeral services will consist of solemn high requiem mass at 10 o'clock, with the sermon by Rev. Dr. William A. Scullen, chancellor of the Cleveland Diocese.

Among pall bearers, will be Tris Speaker, Manager Steve O'Neill, and Joe Wood of the Cleveland Indians, and Tom Rafferty, former baseball player. The team will attend the funeral.

Twenty thousand, six hundred and twenty-three persons donated ten cents each toward the "flower from a fan" fund. A floral basket, with 20,623 flowers will be purchased, and all money left over will be turned over to the "Ray Chapman memorial fund" committee.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Albert R. Tearney, president of the Three I and Western leagues, today wired all club owners in each league to stop games for five minutes tomorrow, out of respect to Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop. The games will be stopped from 4 p.m. to 4:05 p.m.

TACOMA (Wash.) Aug. 19.—In honor of the funeral of Ray Chapman, star Cleveland shortstop, who died from the effects of being hit on the head by a pitched ball Monday, all games in the Pacific International League will be stopped five minutes at 4 o'clock Friday, President Louis H. Burnett, of that league announced.

Flags in all parks will also be at half mast. President Burnett also has made arrangements to have a floral piece at the Chapman services in the name of the Pacific International League.

LEACH TROPHY SHOOT AT GUN CLUB SUNDAY.

The eleventh chapter of the M. A. Leach series of trophy shoots will be waged at the Los Angeles Gun Club Sunday morning, Secretary Fred Teeple announced yesterday.

In the last eight shoots F. A. Gillespie has produced perfect scores, 25x25, giving him a total of 200 birds in as many cracks. Teeple believes this to be a record, and promises that the club will present Gillespie with a special prize if he knocks all the birds cold next Sunday.

B. COLIMA TO BOX SEATTLE WELTER.

Billy Wright, a Seattle welterweight, has been drafted by Matchmaker Wad Wadhams to scrap Bert Colima in the Vernon four-round main event next Tuesday night.

Wright's chief claim to prominence lies in the fact that he fought a couple of good bouts with Billy Shade of San Francisco, who is not unknown to Vernon fans. Wadhams has not yet dug up a semi-windup, but expects to spring one on the populace in a few days.

DAVIS SHOWS RARE SKILL.

Californian's Work Mainly Instrumental in Taking Tennis Match.

BY FRED HAWTHORNE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Still another sensation was sprung this afternoon in the third round of the men's annual national championship doubles, on the turf courts of the Longwood Cricket Club, at Chestnut Hill, when Willis Davis and Roland Roberts of California defeated Richard Norris Williams II and Richard Harte by a score of 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Williams and Harte won the great doubles tournament at Newport less than a week ago, defeating William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin, in the final round, and had anybody told me today, before the start of this match, that Williams and Harte would not get more than six games, I am frank to say that I would not have believed such a thing possible. But it has happened, and in most convincing manner, as the thousands who sat in the stands this afternoon will bear testimony.

SWIFT DEFEAT

There were mainly two factors that brought about the swift defeat of Williams and Harte. One was the remarkable improvement in the game of Davis and Roberts and the other was the equally remarkable weakness of Williams, particularly, and Harte secondarily.

This man Davis is acquiring his tennis lore so swiftly that it is almost impossible to believe he is today the same player whose crudities in tactics were so noticeable when he landed in the East, three short weeks ago. This afternoon Davis used his head wonderfully well, tricking Williams several times when both were close to the net by shooting straight backhand volleys down the side alley for clean aces. He also employed very clever soft, stop-volleys with conspicuous success when the two easterners were anchored near the base line.

VICIOUS SPEED.

These were the refinements in the play of the Californian which had been lacking before, yet he carried all the vicious speed of stroke on his overhead shots and on his service, that have always made him a dangerous opponent when things were breaking right for him. Davis's low volleying was likewise very well done, his only real weakness today appearing when he was compelled to take the ball at his feet. And how very few do shine when trapped thus.

Roberts, seemingly inspired by his partner's example, set a pace of furious speed that fully equalled that of Davis, and his volleying was tremendously effective and his service a great offensive weapon. Roberts also was far more successful with his forehand drives than usual, the speed of the shot as he whipped it over the net rarely giving Williams or Harte the chance to get into position ofr a safe return. Although he wavered once or twice when smashing lobs, Roberts handled these shots so well, on the whole, that Williams and Harte soon discovered the ball might be safer elsewhere than within the sweep of the young Californian's racquet.

Williams piled up an unusually large total of errors in the three shorts sets, his mistakes being just three times the number of his earned points. Davis, on the contrary, scored twenty earned points to his twenty-two errors, a vastly different story than is told by Williams's figures.

W. F. Johnson and S. W. Pearson defeated W. T. Hayes and R. H. Burdick in a five-set match.

W. M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin defeated A. Yenoken and L. E. Mahan in an indifferent match which went to an extra set.

The semifinals will be played tomorrow. Davis and Roberts will meet William Tilden and Charles Garland, and Johnston and Griffin will play Johnson and Pearson.

FOUR GAMES SLATED IN NEW BALL LEAGUE.

Four games will be played Saturday in the newly organized Intercity Baseball League, it was announced yesterday by President Frank Kerwin. The American Door Company will meet the Pasadena Firemen, Hammond Lumber Company the Downey team, Killifer Manufacturing Company will tackle Renshaw, Jones and Sutton and the Gilfillan team clashes with the Pacific Portable outfit.

GOLF SWEEPSTAKES ON GRIFFITH LINKS.

Golfers will have competition aplenty at Griffith Park on Sunday. A special ball sweepstakes, medal play at handicap for three classes, was announced yesterday by Pro Patterson. Class A will range from scratch to 10, class B from 10 to 18, and Class C from 18 up.

SLING IT INTO ANGELS AGAIN.

Lawless Senators Find Seraphs Easy Pickings.

Killefer Thrown Out of Game for Squawking.

Big Bill Prough Shows He's Good Front Runner.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Well—what's the matter with our Angels—can't they take a fall out of the tailenders? Just think of it—dear bugs—the despised outsiders—the Sacramento misfits, beat them again yesterday, 5 to 1.

In times agone, before the erstwhile Yippers had their tonsils cut out, Washington Park atmosphere was redolent with cawing pep. The Solons were then a team difficult to hang it on.

Now they are as cawless and harmless as a dyspeptic ostrich, and yet possess the power to dethrone our Angels at will. Are we destined for the musty scent of the cellar? Yea-bo—it begins to look that way.

Ray Keating was hit upon as the pitching Moses to lead the Celestials into any old kind of a promised land, but failed in a noble undertaking. Ray was not at his best, but even had he been at his best, the drooping Seraphim would have bedevilled his choicest efforts.

FRONT RUNNER BILL.

Big Bill Prough, held the reins for Buddy Ryan, and his brood and as Bill was in front all the way—a position which makes him a composite Alexander and Johnson—he just simply heaved his head off.

If the Angels had a chance to win, Red Killefer balled it up by a rumble with Umpire Anderson in the opening canto. Red flamed behind the eyes, when he was called out at the plate on a close decision. Anderson, scenting the wrath to come, turned away from Killefer as the latter jerked to his feet. Red, instead of sending a tracer out to verify the verdict, grabbed Andy by the arm and rudely pulled him to a, "meet me face to face." "You're out" snorted the arbiter with a tone of finality, as he waved a twittering bye-bye with the fingers of his right hand.

Killefer, stunned into incredulity by what he thought was an utterly absured decision, tried to shake Anderson's twisted medulla into a rescinding mood, but that same medulla was tangled harder than the famous Gordian knot, and as Red is many kinks shy of the prowess possessed by Alexander of old, that old knot refused to be slit in any kind of a way.

SHOWER FOR RED.

Ergo—Killefer was told to tiptoe to the shower, where the cool spray would evidently calm his blood pressure to the normal forty-five mark—and Red tiptoed. Sam Crawford was sent to first—and maybe you think Sam can't first it—and Curley Brown to right field.

The little mix-up in the first came off something like this: Killefer cleverly bounded one to the left of the plate, which died quickly, and was almost in a state of decomposition by the time Third Sacker Sheehan reached it. Red was easily safe at first. Hurrah for Red, for a moment later he pulled off as neat a piece of base stealing as has been seen at the park in a long time. McAuley was an easy out, Orr to Mollwitz.

A MIGHTY SWAT.

Karl Crandall in trying to repeat Hack Miller's clock hit of last week, trickled a consumptive little offering to Sheehan, who shot him out to Mollwitz. The gangling first sacker then tossed the ball to Cook and Killefer was nailed at the plate. It was a close decision, but as the spoken word can never be recalled, all the kings horses and all the kings men couldn't pull Humpty Dumpty up on the wall again.

As far as the old rubber at the plate was concerned, for the rest of the day, the Angel's cleats lost all affinity for it, but not so with the Yipless crew. They had made up their minds to swing five runs over the plate, and this they accomplished without much effort on their part. The fourth inning found the fruit ripening suddenly. On singles by Mollwitz and Sheehan, and some weird fielding by McDonald and McAuley, three runs skimmed over the plate in a very short time and the horrible deed was done. After the game, the Angel's error column looked like an assist column, with Karl Crandall leading the van in a class by himself. The score:

CIVILIAN TEAM BREAKS RECORD.

CAMP PERRY (O.) Aug 19.—The Massachusetts civilian team today, in the finish of the Herrick trophy match, not only landed first place, but broke a world's record, having piled up 1735 out of a possible 1800 over the 800, 900 and 1000-yard ranges. The previous record was 1723, established by the former Massachusetts team in 1914.

A second world's record was broken today by Capt. G. L. Watkyns, Pasadena, Cal., an instructor in the small arms firing school, who scored 224 out of a possible 235 over the 800, 900 and 1000-yard ranges while shooting in the team match. At the small bore ranges the national individual match was continued. R. W. Ballard, Douglas, Ariz., was high man with 236 out of a possible 400.

With four entries, the Adjutant-General's match opened today, being shot on the 200-yard ranges, with ten shots each for record. Among the participants was Adjt.-Gen. James Boree, California.

TELLS TALE OF ROBBERY AND INJURY.

Bleeding Man Dashes Into Police Station and Pleads for Protection.

Attacked by a stranger in his rooms at the Sherman Hotel at Fourth street and Broadway and robbed of almost $400 in cash—that is what happened to John M. Macdougal of Santa Barbara yesterday afternoon, according to his report to the police. His story is now under investigation by Police Detective Fitzgerald.

Bleeding from a badly-lacerated face and clutching about $200 in bills in his hand, Macdougal rushed into the detective bureau at Central Police Station and announced that he had just escaped being beaten to death. He demanded and was assured protection before he would tell his story.

From what the officers were able to learn from Macdougal's tale, he encountered a stranger in front of his hotel. After some talk the stranger was invited to Macdougal's rooms and the two ascended together in the hotel elevator. As soon as he entered the room the stranger, according to Macdougal, attacked him, grabbed most of his money and then fled.

COUNCIL TAKES PARK.

San Fernando Site Accepted After Offer was First Refused.

Mrs. Leafie Sloan-Orcutt, head of the Park Commission, last night expressed her gratification over the acceptance by the City Council of the six and a half acre park lot opposite the San Fernando Mission. A year ago L. C. Brand, owner of the plot, offered it to the city, but it was not accepted then because the city had no one to take care of it. Arrangements have been made for an employee from one of the other parks to spend one-half of each day on the upkeep of the new park. Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt voiced particular thanks to Councilman Criswell for his interest in the matter of having the Council take over the plot.

MANY COMING WEST.

Espee Official Says Influx of Tourists Will be Heavy.

Filled with optimism for the coming winter season, Charles S. Fee, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday. Mr. Fee, who is at a local hotel, has just returned from a trip throughout the East, where he has been studying conditions and making forecasts for the approaching year.

More people are making inquiries and reservations for the winter than ever before, he said. The East is full of money and people are going to spend it and the Coast appeals to them as a desirable playground. Mr. Fee stated that he does not believe the new rates will affect the travel to any great extent. The only tourists who will be affected are those of moderate incomes, who come to the State each year and who are known as "bungalow tourists," he said.

PERSONNEL TO CHANGE.

HARRY HILLIARD WILL BE NEW MOROSCO STOCK LEAD.

By Edwin Schallert.

Several changes of importance in the personnel of the stock company at the Morosco Theater are in prospect, although only one of these is scheduled for the immediate future. This will be the departure of Louis Calhern, who has been leading man for the past four or five months. Mr. Calhern is going into picture work.

His place will be taken by Harry Hilliard, who has attained prominence both on the stage and in the films. He has played the leads in a number of cinema features with Universal, Fox, Metro and other companies.

He has been engaged in theatrical work for the past fifteen years and played in "The Very Idea," which is now being presented at the Morosco, after Ernest Truex had closed his engagement with the New York company.

Mr. Hilliard will make his first appearance the 29th inst, probably in the present attraction, as it is likely this will have a run.

Another possible change that may take place in the fall, concerns Miss Eleanor Woodruff, who has been leading woman of the company for the past year and a half. Miss Woodruff may go to New York in October as the star of a new Morosco production, "Mom."

This play is one of the recent acquisitions of the producer, and he is known to be very favorably inclined toward featuring Miss Woodruff in the piece, if he decides to put it on at the time specified.

SPECIAL PICTURES TAKES OVER STUDIO.

Completion of negotiations whereby the Special Pictures Corporation acquires the old Fred Balshoffer studio, formerly used in making of Metro productions, at 1329 Gordon street, was announced yesterday.

Heretofore the Special Pictures has been using a part of the Balboa studios at Long Beach, but on increasing the production schedule, the company found the acquisition of a complete studio necessary.

Work has already started on a picture, the same being a "Comiclassic," starring Charlotte Merriam. Reggie Morris, who directed "Married Life," is making the feature.

Chester Conklin will begin his first two-reeler, "His Wife's Relations," Monday. Conklin has just returned from a personal appearance tour of the Northwest.

H. J. Roberts, general sales manager of the concern, returned from New York a few days ago, where he made exchange affiliations. Eight releases weekly are planned by the Special Pictures.

LOUIS MAYER WILL VISIT NEW YORK.

Louis B. Mayer, producer of First National attractions, starring Anita Stewart and Mildred Harris Chaplin, will leave for New York Sunday. As it is over a year since he has been East and much longer than that since his last vacation, this will be a combination business and pleasure trip.

While in New York, Mr. Mayer will have a number of important conferences with First National executives. His present contract with that organization is drawing to a close, and he wishes to perfect his plans for the 1920-1921 production year.

In addition to making star productions during the coming year, Mr. Mayer plans to produce a number of books as special pictures with all-star casts. The only one of these stories announced at the present time is Harold MacGrath's Saturday Evening Post serial, "Drums of Jeopardy," but it is said that Mr. Mayer holds the film rights to some of James Oliver Curwood's successes and to the works of other authors of equal note.

Several big deals, regarding the purchase of plays and books, which are now pending in New York, will be settled upon his arrival there. Accompanying him on the trip will be Irene, Edith and Mrs. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Stahl and Madge Tyrone. Mr. Mayer expects to return to the studio within a very short time to start the wheels of progress moving in preparation for a big 1920-1921 production year.

SHOW MOTION FILM OF DIVING STAR.

Irving Lesser, general manager of the Western Exploitation Company announces that his organization will control the world's rights to all products released by the Cinal Process of slow motion photography. The first release will be a beautiful subject of Annette Kellerman.

This marks the first time that the star has been filmed in slow motion. Owing to the fact that Miss Kellerman has earned a reputation for the beauty of her figure and the grace of her athletic movements, she was selected to prove the advantages that can be obtained with the process.

Rupert Hughes Here.

For the purpose of completing the scenario of an original story, Rupert Hughes of Goldwyn's Eminent Authors' Staff, is in Los Angeles, and plans to remain here for about three weeks. He is stopping at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

It was upon Mr. Goldwyn's own suggestion that Mr. Hughes came West. The producer was enthusiastic over the author's story on seeing it in New York and expressed the wish that Mr. Hughes himself might assist in the writing of the continuity.

One of the Hughes' pictures, "Caravan" is now being filmed with Tom Moore as the star at the studios in Culver City.

Mary Selecting Cast.

Mary Pickford is making up her cast for the new comedy drama that is being written for her by Frances Marion. This picture will be produced at the Brunton studios. As yet, it is unnamed.

Juggle to Relieve Strain.

The strain of sustaining intense dramatic roles from hour to hour for days at a time in filming "Outside the Law," has impelled Priscilla Dean, Wheeler Oakman and Lon Chaney to take up juggling, to relieve the nerve tension between scenes.

Tod Browning's assistant, Leo McCarey is also an enthusiastic "jongleur," and has worked up a routine with Wheeler Oakman in which they use everything from empty film cans to chairs and water pitchers.

Fairbanks Feature.

Supporting players for Douglas Fairbanks's next picture, are rapidly being selected, indicating that within a week, considerable headway will have been made with the next United Artists' production, from this plant.

"The Curse of Capistrano," by Johnston McCulley, story of love and adventure, having to do with the early settlers of Southern California, has been chosen as the next vehicle for Fairbanks. The screen adaptation has already been prepared by Eugene Mullin, from the original, which appeared in the All Story magazine.

Selection of the supporting players is in the hands of Fred Niblo, who accompanied Mr. Fairbanks from the East, following his engagement as director of this production. The director is going over the names of available players for distinctive types.

The executive and technical staff at the Fairbanks studios is the same as it was during the making of the last two "Big Four" productions.

According to the schedule arranged, Mr. Fairbanks will complete "The Curse of Capistrano" and another production within the next five months. Already, he has two plays in mind to follow his present undertaking, both original stories of which he is the author.

Holubar as Best Man.

Allen Holubar, the producer, may become an actor again, for a night. Harry Bucquet, his assistant, is to be married in San Francisco within the fortnight, and he has asked his chief to officiate as best man.

Bucquet is also trying to persuade Dorothy Phillips to act as matron of honor. H. Lyman Broening, Holubar's chief cinematographer, will make the trip north to record the event for the silversheet, and a copy of the film will be presented to the newly weds with the compliments of the producer-employer.

May Film Comedy.

"Wait Till We're Married," the Oliver Morosco comedy, now running at the Egan Little Theater, may be made into a film, with the original cast, according to announcement by Frank Egan. The production is playing to large houses, and many prominent film folks who have seen it, declare it would make a good five-reel comedy-drama.

Mrs. Drew with Vitagraph.

Mrs. Sidney Drew has been engaged by Albert E. Smith, president of the Vitagraph, to direct Alice Joyce in the screen version of "Cousin Kate," the Ethel Barrymore play recently purchased for the cinema. Vitagraph has also bought "Her Lord and Master," a stage play of American and British life and manners, for Miss Joyce. This will go into production probably following "Cousin Kate." This acquisition is in line with the policy recently formulated for obtaining dramatic successes for special motion-picture presentation with leading stars.

"Buddies" Soon to Show.

The musical comedy, "Buddies," which has had a long run in New York, is to be the attraction at the Mason following "Mamma's Affair." Among those who will appear in the cast here are Denman Maley, Olive Reeves Smith, Joseph Herbert, Jr., and Ignacio Martinetti.

Tully Goes East.

Having finished his vacation on this Coast, Richard Walton Tully has returned to New York to begin preparations for his coming season. He plans to present Guy Bates Post in "The Masquerader" again and also will stage "The Bird of Paradice" in the provinces of Great Britain.

Washburn Busy Abroad.

Bryant Washburn is already busy on his first independent production in England. The title is "The Road to London," and it will be made in the actual locale of the story.

Moore Chili Specialist.

George Austin Moore, who comes to the Orpheum next week, was the author of one of the most famous chili (not chilly) parties ever held at a theater about two years ago. The party was given back stage, with Joseph Howard as one of the waiters, and Ethelyn Clark as hostess, while Moore was the cook. Moore is a specialist in the peppy culinary art.

Hip Summer Special.

A real summer show is the musical comedy put over by the Ship Ahoy Girls at the Hippodrome. The setting is on board a vessel. Other attractions on the bill are Skelly and Heit in their comedy, "Oh, Hello!" Cook and Oatman, songsters; Simms and Warfield, colored comedians; Howard and Scott in character songs and dances; Tyler and St. Clair, xylophonists, and the photoplay, "Children not Wanted," featuring Edith Day.

Novelty at Kinema.

The stage at the Kinema Theater will represent a huge old-fashioned music box for the featured song number beginning Saturday. This will disclose a new angle in song presentation, it is said.

The singers will take on the appearance of Dresden china dolls, revolving with the symmetric movement of music-box figures. The musical selection is from the comic opera, "Irene."

"Barbarian" Review.

A brilliant assemblage of photoplayers was present at the preview of "The Barbarian," Monroe Salisbury's first starring feature, which was shown last night at the California Theater in Venice. Interest in the result achieved by Mr. Salisbury was manifest, and particularly laudatory were the comments on the beauty of settings incorporated in the photodrama.

MURRAY WINS ROUND.

Comedian Enters Ring in Behalf of War Veterans.

Charlie Murray appeared in the ring last Tuesday night and won in one round. He told the fight fans at Doyle's Arena, Los Angeles, about the boys at Arrowhead Springs and informed his hearers that he was going up there Sunday with a troupe of program givers to stage a show for the disabled soldiers.

Murray then asked whether anybody in the four square pavilion wanted to contribute to the comfort of the veterans of the World War by buying them cigarettes.

The answer was a shower of money totaling exactly $549.40. The coins were in denominations from a penny to a dollar.

The cash was counted, turned over to Jack Doyle of Doyle's Arena as a deposit on cigarettes, cigars, poundboxes of candy, gum, chewing tobacco, pipe tobacco, to be drawn on for the men at Arrowhead.

Six seven-passenger autos were donated for Sunday by Harold L. Arnold, to take the players up to Arrowhead and back.

CLEVER TECHNICAL TRICK.

By a trick of photography, the action of Ethel Clayton's "Crooked Streets," at Clune's Broadway, was superimposed in several instances, upon photographs of real scenes in Shanghai, China, where the play is laid. Portions of the native quarter of the ancient city were perfectly reproduced on the banks of the studio tank at Lasky's, and so realistic is the effect that a world-trotter who had lived in China was thoroughly convinced that the play had been filmed in that strange Chinese city.

COMPANY IS YACHTING.

Wanda Hawley, Director Sam Wood, Jerome Patrick and other Realart players left last night for a five-day bona-fide sea trip. They embarked on the steam yacht Kemah at San Diego and are now cruising off the Lower California Coast, taking scenes in Miss Hawley's latest comedy-drama for Realart. The craft was hired for the picture, crew and all.

MADGE KENNEDY IN STAGE PLAY.

That delightful screen comedienne, Madge Kennedy, is to return to her first dramatic love, the stage, according to advices from the East. She will appear under Henry W. Savage's management in a new comedy, "Cornered," opening her engagement early this fall. Miss Kennedy has not been seen in a stage play for several years. She last appeared in "Fair and Warmer," in which she was surpassingly successful. She has been filling a long-term picture engagement with the Goldwyn corporation the past several seasons.

WILL FACE FIRST WIFE.

Wanted in two States; May go to Idaho on Bigamy Charge.

Lee Oviatt, wanted in two different States on charges of passing fictitious checks and bigamy, will probably go to Pocatello, Idaho, to face wife No. 1, who accuses him of bigamy, and the father of wife No. 2, who accuses him of passing fictitious checks. Sheriff Anderson of Pocatello arrived in this city yesterday with extradition papers, a day in advance of a deputy sheriff of Salt Lake City, where extradition papers have also been issued for Oviatt.

A. C. Webb, Oviatt's attorney, yesterday caused to have continued a writ of habeas corpus sued out on Oviatt's behalf. The writ will be up today before Judge Willis. It was intimated that Oviatt's attorney would have the petition for the writ dismissed and allow him to go to Idaho for trial.

HOSPITAL SEES PLOT.

Council Told New Hollywood Zone Law Would Bar It.

That the object of a petition filed with the City Council asking that a new residential zone be established in Hollywood is to prevent the construction of the Hollywood Hospital was stated yesterday by promoters of the new institution, who appeared before the Public Welfare Committee of the City Council to protest against the creation of the new zone. It is planned to build the hospital on Cahuenga avenue, but if the district is made a residential zone, the building of the institution will be prohibited. The committee will hear both sides to the controversy next Thursday afternoon.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Steel Companies Show Big Earnings; New Railroad Bond Issue.

Despite the freight congestion and the credit stringency, the earnings of the principal steel companies, which have recently issued quarterly reports, show an upward trend during the second quarter of the year, and the operations for the first six months of 1920 show a great improvement over the first half of 1919, says a report on the condition of these companies which has been released by the local office of the National City Company.

The most marked improvement was in Lackawanna steel, which, after a deficit in the first three months of the year, earned $5.36 a share on its common stock in the succeeding three months and showed a final net for the half year of $4.06 a share. Midvale steel earned $2.17 a share in the second quarter against 76 cents in the first. United States Steel and Republic Iron and Steel also showed gains, but as these companies reported substantial profits in the three months ended March 31 the increases in the second quarter were not as marked. U. S. Steel's second quarter produced $3.96 a share on the common stock against $2.58 in the three months preceding and Republic's $6.22 against $4.45.

The following table shows the net income available for dividends, after taxes and charges, of these companies for the first six months of 1920 compared with the corresponding half of 1919.

	Net Income Available for Dividends. First 6 mos.	First 6 mos.
United States Steel	$52,497,518	$35,449,599
Republic Iron and Steel	4,062,817	1,644,873
Lackawanna	1,886,490	974,622
Midvale	1,886,490	2,000,000

Unfilled order of practically all steel companies are unusually large and a high rate of operations, at least until the end of the year, seems assured. While the demand for steel is not as heavy as it was a few months ago, it is still urgent and the difficulty of manufacturers in not to get new business, but to get transportation for raw materials into their plants and for shipment out.

THE WEEK'S FAILURES.

Commercial failures in the United States for the week ending August 14, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., amounted to 155, as compared with 153 of the preceding week, and 116 for the corresponding week in 1919. Failures in Canada for the week were fourteen, as against eighteen of the preceding week, and eleven of last year. Seventeen of the week's failures were on the Pacific Coast, it is reported, and seventy-six of these firms had liabilities of $5000 or more.

NEW YORK CENTRAL BONDS.

E. H. Rollins and Sons and the National City Company announce the offering of a $25,000,000 issue of New York Central Railway ten-year collateral trust 7 per cent bonds, due Sept. 1, 1930. As security the company pledges $25,000,000 first and refunding 6 per cent bonds, $7,750,000 Reading Railroad general preferred stock, and $5,500,000 Reading Railroad second preferred stock. The market value of the collateral thus pledged is at the present time about $31,000,000, giving a substantial equity over and above the face amount of the issue. The proceeds of this issue are to be used in payment of equipment trust notes of the company which mature in September, for the payment of obligations coming due at various banks, and for working capital. For the year 1919 the statement of the company showed a balance equivalent to a dividend of $7.89 per share on the capital stock of the company, while the surplus of the company for that period amounted to $7,423,962. From 1861 to 1914 the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad paid dividends as high as 10 per cent and not less than 4 per cent, while from 1900 to 1914 the dividends amounted to at least 6 per cent. The bonds of the new issue are to be sold at par.

LOWER FOOD PRICES.

In the monthly bulletin of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, W. A. Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics, predicts a decline of food prices because of the record crop, which is now nearing maturity. Despite the fact that receipts of grain at the primary markets have not been very heavy on account of the difficulty, which farmers are having in obtaining transportation, prices have been dropping because of the great threatened surplus when the movement of these crops have gotten well under way.

The production of cotton in Arizona and California, says Mr. Douglas, is increasing greatly in volume and in importance. Between 1913 and 1919, the acreage in Arizona has increased from 400 to 27,000 acres, while the yield has risen from 240 to 40,000 bales. During the present year, the acreage has been expanded to 210,000 acres.

THE BOND MARKET.

Reviewing the condition in the bond market, the Citizens' National Bank in its current issue of the financial and business summary says:

"A record of the bond market charted over a number of consecutive periods of prosperity and depression shows that it improves when business activity lessens. This is so, because funds are set free by the slowing up of business, and in order to keep them earning they are invested in bonds. The present position of the bond market would indicate that business generally was well sustained. There is, however, the indication that business is slowing down under the influence of several factors, but the process has not advanced sufficiently far to exert an influence on bond prices. Wonderful bargains are now available and the price range that might be offered if a further mark down materialized seems to be of such narrow possibility that further attempt to guess the bottom looks unprofitable."

FUEL AND IRON EARNINGS.

The statement of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company for the quarter, ended June 30, shows a net income, including earnings from operation and income from other sources, of $2,258,482.80. After deductions for bond interest, taxes, and sinking fund, the balance for the period amounts to $1,546,880.66, an increase of $919,736.25 over the corresponding period of the preceding year.

NEW BOOKLET.

Blyth, Witter & Co., have brought out a second edition of their booklet, "The Elementary Principles of Safe Investment," and copies are now ready for distribution, it is announced. The book, which is revised and enlarged, deals with all classes of stocks and bonds, together with explanations of the investment features of each type of security, and in addition, it contains an appendix which defines the terms commonly used in connection with these securities.

GOODYEAR DIVIDEND.

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on common stock of the company, payable on September 1, to stockholders of record on August 14.

CRUDE OIL PRICES.

While further advances may be necessary, in the price of refined oil products on account of the increase of freight rates, it is not believed that crude oil prices will be materially affected, says local oil men. This is due to the fact that much of the crude oil is moved through pipe lines and is therefore independent of rail transportation, while the refined products are shipped largely by rail in tank cars.

STEADY TONE RULES ON PRODUCE MARKET.

HOME-GROWN POTATOES ARE 25 CENTS PER SACK HIGHER; CORN IS WEAKER.

A steady undertone ruled on the local produce market for the majority of fruits and vegetables, although prices declined slightly for a few lines which were in heavy supply. Demand was moderate, although during the first hours of the session country offerings moved rapidly at prices fractionally higher than those of the preceding day. Toward the close, however, the market reacted to the level of Wednesday's session. The outstanding feature of the session was the advance made by homegrown potatoes, which moved up in sympathy with advances made in the shipping market, where a more active demand prevailed. On the local market, fancy stock was about 15 cents per 100 higher while by the sack this grade moved up 25 cents, selling to retailers at $2.75 to $3 per sack. A similar advance occurred in the shipping market, where fancy White Rose stock was rolling around $3 per sack, as compared with $2.75 of the preceding day.

Corn was in liberal supply, and the tone of the market was slightly weaker for this commodity, which was selling at 85 cents per 100 box for Cal. Yellow, as compared with $1 per box of Wednesday's session. Crabapples declined 25 cents per 100, the top price yesterday being $1 per box. Other lines were firm and unchanged at the close of the day.

COTTON MARKET OPENS WEAK; JULY UNCHANGED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The cotton market opened weak with July unchanged and other deliveries 29 to 57 points lower. There was heavy and general liquidation of near months by the south, Wall street and uptown interests.

After opening prices broke 45 to 80 points from last night's closing the pressure was prompted by the somewhat more favorable weather in the south, yesterday's declines in southern spot markets and unfavorable report from the goods trade, while much of the selling was attributed to the feeling against high prices generally. October sold off to 28.04 cents and December to 27.20 cents, or about 180 to 200 points below the high level of yesterday.

There were rallies later on covering of 40 to 50 points, but renewed liquidation again caused depression, active months riding about 30 to 45 points net lower around midday.

Prices made new low ground for the movement on most positions in the afternoon at 70 to 95 points net decline. There was continued trade selling, liquidation by early buyers for a reaction and selling for Liverpool account.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET HAS BEARISH MOOD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Liquidation and general pressure with a steady backing away on the part of buyers was more pronounced than for several days past and with sentiment bearish on top of previous declines there was everything to indicate selling and little other than the break in prices to encourage buying. Closing prices were around the inside of the day with wheat 1¾ to 2 cents lower, September corn off 4¼ cents and distant futures 1 to 2 cents lower. Oats were ⅝ to ¾ cent lower, rye ¾ to 1¼ cents lower and barley ¼ to ½ cent lower.

Seaboard exporters were good buyers of wheat all day, while the selling was scattered largely by local interests. Cash prices here were 1 cent lower on winters and 5 cents off on springs with Minneapolis 10 cents lower. December at the highest was $2.40½ with the close at $2.37, the lowest of the day. Winnipeg broke 9 cents with the close on October $2.04¾.

Heavy and persistent selling of September corn made a weaker and lower market. At the low point prices were off 5¾ cents from the high of the previous day and the finish was within ¼ to ⅝ cent of the bottom.

Weakness in corn was the dominating influence in oats. Closing trades were about the bottom. Premiums in the sample market were ⅛ cent higher with No. 2 white selling at 4 to 4¼ cents and No. 3 white at 1¼ to 2¼ cents over September. The range:

Increased Production and Hydro-Electricity

According to estimates of oil operators, the supply of fuel oil available for the Pacific Coast is rapidly diminishing. Increased production in our industries to keep pace with our growing population can come about only through increased hydro-electric development, which is still in its infancy.

The bonds of the following hydro-electric concerns operating on this coast offer excellent investment opportunities.

Make way for the Tractor!

In 1912 there were only 12,500 tractors in the world; in 1914 only 15,000; in 1915 only 21,000; in 1916 only 30,000.

In 1917 only 55,000; in 1918, 100,000; in 1919, 250,000; in 1920, 250,000.

For 1921 the estimated demand is 420,000—or 170,000 more than have been made in the world since the first steam tractor.

Tractors are a necessity.

The tractor of highest mechanical efficiency is the "Best Tractor." To double its present capacity the C. L. Best Tractor Company has issued Cumulative Preferred Stock.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Sentiment among the professional element on the stock exchange today was more cheerful, the market evincing an inclination to throw off its depression.

The better feeling was not, however, accompanied by any pronounced accessions of business. Dealings were moderate, except in the final hour, when prices were highest, but representative shares, notably standard rails, figured to an unusual extent in the day's operations.

Improvement was popularly attributed to the more encouraging aspect of the eastern European situation. The trend there, however, was largely offset by fresh weakness in foreign exchange. British bills were almost 10 cents under last week's highest quotations, and concurrent heaviness was shown by remittances to France, Italy, Germany and Scandinavian points.

Failure of France to explain the method by which it intends to pay its share of the Anglo-French loan soon to mature here was advanced as the primary reason for the further reversal of exchange.

In the money market conditions affecting time and demand loans were not materially altered. Interior banks offered moderate sums for thirty and sixty days and were buyers of commercial paper. Contrary to its course of the two preceding days, call money held at the opening rate of 7 per cent.

Outstanding features of the stock market comprised motors, oils, steels and equipments, the two first named displaying special strength at the close. Sales were 325,000 shares.

Heaviness of Liberty 2½s and several prominent industrial issues, such as United States Rubber and American Smelting, contributed to an irregular bond market. Sales, par value, aggregated $10,150,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

SWIFT ACTION NOT EXPECTED.

Decision on Plaza Plan May Not Come for Weeks.

Shoup Urges Decision First on Grade Crossings.

Hearing on Sachse Report to End at Noon Today.

Swift action by the State Railroad Commission on Engineer Sachse's Plaza union terminal report is not a strong probability. President Edgerton says it will take days and perhaps weeks to reach a definite conclusion, depending upon whether it seems desirable to order the improvement made step by step or in its entirety. The public hearing on the Sachse report will end at noon today.

Testifying before the commission yesterday Paul Shoup, vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company, upheld the Arcade site for a Salt Lake-Southern Pacific and Pacific Electric terminal, but said that under existing conditions he would rather get entirely away from the union terminal idea and take up the more necessary feature of the report—that of grade crossing elimination.

"Tell the commission how you think such work should be pursued," said President Edgerton.

"I should first eliminate the interurban grade crossings, then the Alameda-street grade crossings, and finally the river crossings," Mr. Shoup replied. "And if I may do so I would like to express the opinion that the city and county should bear from one-third to one-half the expense."

PROPOSES NEW SITE.

President Edgerton brought forth a declaration which caused considerable discussion in the courtroom and corridors when he asked Mr. Shoup if he could lay aside the "Titcomb Plan" and Engineer Sachse's three union terminal plans, forget the cost phase of such a proposition, and still recommend a union depot site which would be more desirable than any that has been offered.

"I can," was Mr. Shoup's reply. "There are two or three more desirable sites, but I think the one which would best serve the public would be created by building a terminal between Central avenue and the Pacific Electric depot at Sixth and Main streets."

Mr. Shoup expressed the belief that an adequate union depot could be built there for less money than is required by any of the three Sachse plans.

Mr. Shoup took particular exception to the Plaza proposition because, he said, it requires the closing of nineteen acres of streets and the occupancy of sixty-five acres of land, the destruction of perhaps $1,500,000 worth of buildings, and the abolition of Plaza Park which, he asserts, is so indispensable to the people of that neighborhood that the city would have to vote a bond issue in order to provide a satisfactory substitute.

President Edgerton upheld the idea of a reasonable amount of estheticism in the establishment of railway stations. He inquired of Mr. Shoup: "If this is not so, why does the Santa Fe Railroad create beautiful little gardens in the foreground at nearly all of its stations?"

NOT AGAINST BEAUTY.

Mr. Shoup said he is not opposed to civic beauty, and thinks a certain amount of estheticism desirable, but he does not advocate extremity in the matter.

Contrary to Attorney Thomas Gibbon's belief that all property owners in the Plaza district could be made joint defendants in condemnation proceedings, which would give the rights of way in perhaps six months rights-of-way in perhaps six months Mr. Shoup said his experience in such matters led him to believe it would take several years to secure the necessary lands.

"I'll go farther," he exclaimed. "I'll ask you to observe that the city alone has the right to put a subway under Main street. The charter would have to be amended in order to change that state of affairs, and even then I doubt if the city would be in a position to legally lease such a subway to the interurban company."

In conclusion Mr. Shoup said he had an idea it would take ten years to put the Sachse Plaza plan through, and he doubted if it could be financed by the roads.

T. W. Williams, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific, who has had experience at Oakland Pier, testified that the Arcade depot could be made to accommodate just as much traffic as the Oakland depot, and that the station is at present adequate for twenty years to come, granting that the travel increases fourfold in that time.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC.

W. H. Comstock, general manager of the Salt Lake line, expressed doubt that his system would greatly increase its local traffic during the next ten years. He declared that the interurban is taking its local business, and that it would do little business on the San Pedro line were it not for the work at the shipyards. He asserted that this business will be nil when shipbuilding drops off.

Summed up, the hearing has developed these outstanding facts:

All three steam roads and the interurban prefer to maintain their own passenger stations. They are all radically opposed to consolidation of freight depots. The Southern Pacific is agreeable to letting the Salt Lake and Pacific Electric use the Arcade depot, and would let the Santa Fe in if ordered to do so. The Santa Fe is maintaining eloquent silence. All of the roads seem to favor early action in the matter of grade crossing elimination. Mr. Shoup is the only one who has suggested that the city and county share this cost. All of the railroads are opposed to the Plaza site. The city has offered no testimony for any proposition. Numerous civic and commercial organizations are solidly in favor of the Plaza terminal proposition.
